Ralston Purina Launches Expansion

Firm To Spend $385,000 On Its Plant Here

Personnel, Capacity For Output Will Both Increase

The Ralston Purina Co. disclosed Thursday plans for a $385,000 expansion program at the firm's Circleville plant.

The announcement was made here by Vaden Couch, local manager, following action by the company's board of directors in St. Louis earlier this week. The firm will hire additional employes and nearly double its operating potential.

News of the expansion planning was certain to provide a strong, new spark for local community growth, under way for many months despite an unexpected setback some time ago in a move to bring additional large industrial firms to the city.

Couch said construction work in the new program for his firm will begin around Nov. 1. He added the company now employs about 130 workers, and that this total will be increased by a number yet undetermined.

THE INCREASED facilities at the local plant, he estimated, will nearly double the plant's production capacity.

"All of this reflects the fact that we are now having the biggest year in the history of the company," Couch said. "Like many others, we heard talk of a recession several months ago, but if there was one, we didn't know about it."

Couch meanwhile confirmed that Ralston Purina has still further, and possibly greater, expansion plans at the blueprint stage for the Circlevile plant. He declined, however, to elaborate, "for awhile yet, anyway."

The newly disclosed expansion plans will "give us practically a new plant in Circleville", the local manager said. He explained

Staunch GOP Paper Backs Gov. Lausche

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland News said today it believes this state's "unusual governor," Democrat Frank J. Lausche, "deserves re-election, for the good of Ohio."

The Republican daily newspaper said "our newspaper has not indorsed a Democrat—even an Independent Democrat—for governor for many years."

But it said "it has not been by accident that Governor Lausche in four elections has received so many thousands of Republican votes as well as others," and declared "one of our best reasons for supporting him" is that "we have seen him work constructively and harmoniously with the Republican majority in the Ohio Legislature for the good of everybody."

The editorial said the Republican candidate for governor, James A. Rhodes, "has hurled a great many charges" without substantiating them "as fully as fair minded persons expect." It said "he has not hesitated to employ formal reports by the state auditor's office as texts strictly for campaign ammunition. We do not view him as of the stature of Governor Lausche."

Cleveland Leading Giants In 2nd World Series Game

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, irked at stubbing their collective toe in the opening contest, took a 1-0 lead over the New York Giants here this afternoon in the second game of the 1954 World Series.

Al Smith hit Antonelli's first pitch over the left field roof, clear out of the the ball park, for a home run. The ball passed over the stands about five feet inside the flag pole. Only two other players ever had opened a World Series game with a home run. They were Davey Jones of Detroit in 1909 and Gene Woodling, New York Yankees in 1953.

FIRST INNING

Indians: Smith hit Antonelli's first pitch out of the park for a home run. Avila grounded out. Doby looked at a third called strike. Rosen walked. So did Wertz. Westlake singled, loading the bases. Strickland popped out. One run, two hits, no errors, three left.

Giants: Lockman grounded out. Dark Lined out. Mueller grounded out. No. runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING

THIRD INNING

Indians: Doby struck out. Rosen bounded out. Wertz singled. Westlake walked. Strickland forced Westlake, Dark to Williams. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Nominated for pitching duty today were Early Wynn, the Indian righthander with a 23-11 record, and young Johnny Antonelli, Giant southpaw who won 21 and lost 7 this year.

The starting lineups:

CLEVELAND—
Al Smith, lf
Bobby Avila, 2b
Larry Doby, cf
Al Rosen, 3b

Wally Westlake, rf
George Strickland, ss
Jim Hegan, c

It will be necessary to go on and play out the Series, but it is difficult to think of anything that might happen from here on that the boys failed to dish up in that 10-inning opener yesterday.

That was a real baseball game, from the moment the first ball was thrown until, more than three tense hours later, Dusty Rhodes draped the fourth pinch homerun in all World Series history into the right field stands to wrap it up for the Giants 5-2.

Bookmakers made a wild scramble to pick up their losses after that game. They had been quoting 9-5 favoring the Indians. Today, the Tribe was listed at even money.

Yesterday's game was the sort that two fighting league champions as the Giants and the Indians figured to put on. The feeling here is that it set the pattern for what may be one of the greatest playoffs in history.

It is true that Rhodes' climactic swipe was very much of the Oriental variety for which the Polo Grounds is notorious. No shorter homerun can be hit in any ball park than was this 270-foot specimen that a fan muffed only inches above the barrier. But it also is a fact that the slugging Indians had the same target to shoot at all afternoon.

Of deep satisfaction to Durocher's club was the fact that it stayed in there and finally defeated Cleveland's best.

Also of glad tidings to the winners was the manner in which their relief star, the veteran Marv Grissom, walked in there to stop the Tribe in its tracks after their starter, Sal Maglie, suddenly felt his 37 years in the eighth inning and his reliever, Don Liddle, had been clouted for one of the longest and most sensational putouts ever seen anywhere.

And last, but far from least, it was their wonder boy and official team electrifier, Willie Mays, who saved the game with his truly amazing over-shoulder catch of Vic Wertz' towering 450-foot smash to the centerfield wall with two Indians on base and none out in the eighth.

The boy from Alabama didn't get a hit off Lemon's sinking stuff, but he gave notice that he will be a telling factor all the way with that catch and his steal of second after Lemon had walked him for the second time with one out in the 10th. The steal caused the Indian ace to pass Hank Thompson purposely to set up a possible double play, and that gave Durocher the opportunity to insert the lefty swinging Rhodes for slumping Monte Irvin.

The best Irvin had been able to do in four tries was lay down a sacrifice bunt, and more than a little complaint had been heard in the press section that Leo had Rhodes sitting on his hands when things looked desperate.

The record crowd of 52,751 gave Dusty a nice ovation, and the next thing anyone knew that lazy little fly was being boosted along by the wind toward its destiny.

Nixon Accused Of Dishonesty

Dem Chieftain Points To 'False Impression'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard Nixon, carrying the bulk of the load in campaigning for Republican candidates, today came in for renewed criticism from Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell of the Democratic National Committee, who accused him of "playing a dishonest game of words to give a false impression."

A spokesman said Mitchell was standing behind his statement, although it was disclosed that the Associated Press had misquoted Nixon in reporting the speech which touched off this particular exchange with Mitchell.

The AP had quoted Nixon as saying in a Sept. 18 speech at Huron, S. D., that the Eisenhower administration has "kicked the Communists out of government not by the hundreds, but by the thousands."

A playback yesterday of a recording of the speech made by a Huron radio station showed that Nixon had said: "We're kicking the Communists and fellow travelers and security risks out of the government, not by the hundreds but by the thousands."

IT WAS ON THE basis of the AP account that Mitchell on Sunday accused Nixon of "an outright falsehood.' Nixon said later Mitchell was "shooting from the hip before he gets the facts."

Mitchell's reply:

"When Mr. Nixon conglomerates Communists, fellow travelers and security risks in one group, he is playing a dishonest game of words to give a false impression. It is as though a police chief boasted about capturing 'thousands of murderers, kidnapers and parking violators,' when his records show one suspected murderer, one suspected kidnaper and 2,000 parking violators."

Rest At Ease About Social Security's Higher Payments!

Do not worry about receiving your increase if you have been getting your social security checks. The increased scale of payments voted by Congress works automatically.

You do not have to fill out forms or applications of any kind. The increase should come along in the checks mailed out early in October.

Westinghouse Hit By Labor Charge

COLUMBUS (AP)—Charges of unfair labor practices have been filed against Westinghouse Electric Corp. here. Union officials claim the company tried to interfere with the right to strike by "intimidation or coercion."

The $45 million plant has been idled 16 days by a strike of 2,000 workers. Settlement has been delayed because of disputed disciplinary action the company said it would take against 97 workers it claims staged an unauthorized walkout the night before the strike was called. The charges were mailed last night to the National Labor Relations Board regional office, Cincinnati.

Famed Program Set Sunday By History Society

Saltcreek Township School In Charge At Logan Elm

It will be the 42nd annual celebration of the Ohio History Day Association. And plans have been made as usual to hold it in the shade of Ohio's most famous tree, the big Logan Elm a short distance south of Circleville.

The program will be in charge of Saltcreek Township School, and activities are scheduled to start at 2 p. m. In the event of rain, the program will be held in the school's auditorium.

Saltcreek School is located on Route 56 a short distance east of Circleville. Logan Elm Park is about seven miles south of the city, approximately one mile east of Route 23.

PARKING AND picnic facilities are available at the scenic spot. The park is administered by the historical society, which was founded in 1912 at Circleville.

Sunday afternoon's program will open with a concert by the Adelphi Band, followed by the devotional by the Rev. Richard McDowell of Laurelville.

The Pledge and Salute to the Flag will be by Dale Drake. Carol Ann Spangler will recite Logan's Speech, and then music will be

Zanesville Fears City Bankruptcy

ZANESVILLE (AP) — Local officials, afraid their city will be bankrupt unless they raise $28,000 by noon tomorrow, meet with the county budget commission today to determine what help the county can provide.

The city claims the county owes Zanesville some revenues from sales tax and intangible personal property taxes distributed by the state. County officials said they might consider giving the city an "advance." Besides the $28,000 needed to pay interest on bonds, city officials said $40,000 is neded by Oct. 5 to meet the city payroll. Zanesville is about $90,000 in debt with only slightly more than $3,000 in the city treasury.

McCarran Funeral Set For Saturday

A congressional delegation will attend the funeral. The rosary was scheduled for 8 p. m. tomorrow in St. Thomas Aquinas cathedral here, with the body to lie in state afterward.

Pontifical mass will be celebrated at the cathedral at 10:30 a. m. Saturday. An invocation, with remarks from senators and benediction by Bishop R. J. Dwyer of the Reno diocese, was to be held at 1 p. m. in the state building.

Soviet Said Ready To Detail Stand On Atomic Proposals

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Reports spread today that Andrei Vishinsky might unveil new Soviet atomic proposals to the U. N. General Assembly this afternoon. Observers predicted they would boil down to another demand for a ban on nuclear weapons.

The chief Russian delegate was scheduled to take the assembly floor shortly after the opening of today's plenary session to give a review of Soviet policy as his contribution to the 60 - nation group's opening general debate.

Vishinsky's speech, on which he had been working in seclusion all week, was expected to set forth the Soviet bloc's line on the American atoms-for-peace proposals and other vital East-West issues.

One Latin - American delegate said he had reliable word that the usually fiery Soviet spokesman would couch his remarks in conciliatory vein in an effort to show Russia is treating the atomic question with an open mind.

MOST MEMBERS felt, however, that Vishinsky would reiterate his governments refusal to go along with the Eisenhower-Dulles atomic plan unless it tied in a declaration outlawing nuclear weapons.

This stand was made clear in the recent publication of previously secret notes the United States and Russia exchanged on President Eisenhower's original proposal to the U.N. last December for a peaceful atomic pool. Secretary of State Dulles rejected the Soviet condition as a ruse to disarm the free nations while Russia continued to bolster her arsenals.

Vishinsky himself gave a hint of the tack he might take when he demanded last week that the U. N. Security Council, in which Russia has veto power, have authority over any international atomic agency. The U. S. has shown no willingness to place the proposed agency under such control.

Some quarters, feeling Vishinsky timed his speech to coincide with the nine-power London conference on German rearmament, predicted he might indicate Russian willingness to accept reunification of the former Reich. But any reunification offer was expected to follow closely the lines the Soviets, have laid down in the past, with demands for such advantages to the Communist East German regime that the West would shun.

There also was speculation Vishinsky might reiterate Russia's call for an all-European security system as an offset to NATO.

Vishinsky also was expected to register a sharp protest against what the Soviets call interference with shipping in the Formosan Straits.

Highway Fatality Toll On Decline

CHICAGO (AP)—Your chances of coming back alive from an automobile trip are getting better.

The National Safety Council reported today that August was the eighth month in a row in which traffic deaths have been cut.

The safety streak means a saving of almost 1,500 lives. At the end of August 1953 traffic deaths totaled 24,200; the same time this year they amounted to 22,780, a cut of six per cent.

Belgian Plan For Controls Gets Approval

Optimism Runs High At London Conference Of 9 Western Powers

LONDON (AP)—A German spokesman says the nine-power conference on freeing and rearming Germany has approved a compromise plan for establishing and controlling a European arms pool.

The plan, put forward by Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, would divide responsibility for safeguards between a new seven-nation European alliance and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Previously, France had insisted on the seven-nation authority exercising controls while West Germany held out for NATO supervision.

The German spokesman said the Spaak compromise met with the approval of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Premier Pierre Mendes France and was also acceptable to the other delegations. He described the Spaak memorandum put before the conference today as "excellent."

The German announcement came shortly before the nine foreign ministers reassembled for their afternoon session.

AN AIR OF optimism is being felt over chances of an agreement to put German divisions in the line against Communist aggression.

Hopes soared as a result of the pledge by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden yesterday that British troops and air forces will be kept on the European mainland indefinitely.

A good welcome was also given U. S. Sceretary of State Dulles promise that he would urge President Eisenhower to renew the U.S. pledge to maintain troops in Europe if a rearmed Germany was brought into the Atlantic alliance.

The other eight foreign ministers apparently think chances of agreement are so good that they are practically ignoring Dulles' warning that failure might result in withdrawal of the American forces from Europe.

Dulles, Eden, Adenauer and Mendes-France arranged to get together late today to talk over the issue of granting West Germany complete sovereignty.

Successful conclusion of these and the companion talks on Ger-

Nation's Weather Varying Widely

CHICAGO (AP)—There was a variety of weather across the nation today.

It was cool, with snow in the Rocky Mountain regions; cool in northern Midwest areas; hot and humid in the Southwest, and around normal in most other parts of the country.

Snow was reported from Northern Montana as far south as Laramie, Wyo., which reported two inches on the ground. Temperatures were below freezing in some places. Colder Canadian air continued to move southward across the plains. Showers and thunderstorms were reported from the western Great Lakes southward into Texas.

Ohio Deaths Dip

CLEVELAND (AP) — There were 264 fewer accidental deaths in Ohio during the first eight months of this year than during the similar period in 1953. There were 156 fewer traffic deaths, 100 fewer home fatalities and 55 fewer public accident deaths not involving motor vehicles.

Ohio Fireworks Company Sued

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Chicago man and his teen-age son sued the Spencer Fireworks & Novelty Co. of Polk, Ohio, for $125,000 yesterday. They said an aerial bomb made by the company blew off two of the boy's fingers and part of a thumb. Bringing the suit were the father, Herbert G. Ostrom, and his son, John, 15.

The lawsuit in federal court here said the boy ordered 72 aerial bombs from the firm in 1953. He lost the fingers when one of the bombs exploded the moment he lit the wick, said the suit.

The father and son said the firm advertised its fireworks as being safe for children to use, while the aerial bomb was "truly a bomb." The father asked $25,000 damages and the boy $100,000.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard Nixon, carrying the bulk of the load in campaigning for Republican candidates, today came in for renewed criticism from Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell of the Democratic National Committee, who accused him of "playing a dishonest game of words to give a false impression."

A spokesman said Mitchell was standing behind his statement, although it was disclosed that the Associated Press had misquoted Nixon in reporting the speech which touched off this particular exchange with Mitchell.

The AP had quoted Nixon as saying in a Sept. 18 speech at Huron, S. D., that the Eisenhower administration has "kicked the Communists out of government not by the hundreds, but by the thousands."

A playback yesterday of a recording of the speech made by a Huron radio station showed that Nixon had said: "We're kicking the Communists and fellow travelers and security risks out of the government, not by the hundreds but by the thousands."

IT WAS ON THE basis of the AP account that Mitchell on Sunday accused Nixon of "an outright falsehood.' Nixon said later Mitchell was "shooting from the hip before he gets the facts."

Mitchell's reply:

"When Mr. Nixon conglomerates Communists, fellow travelers and security risks in one group, he is playing a dishonest game of words to give a false impression. It is as though a police chief boasted about capturing 'thousands of murderers, kidnapers and parking violators,' when his records show one suspected murderer, one suspected kidnaper and 2,000 parking violators."

Rest At Ease About Social Security's Higher Payments!

Do not worry about receiving your increase if you have been getting your social security checks. The increased scale of payments voted by Congress works automatically.

You do not have to fill out forms or applications of any kind. The increase should come along in the checks mailed out early in October.

For further information on this detail, read the second of a series of stories being published by The Herald on the Social Security Act's provisions.

It is written especially for residents of Pickaway County. And it comes direct from the field representative who handles claims from this district for the Columbus office.

Westinghouse Hit By Labor Charge

COLUMBUS (AP)—Charges of unfair labor practices have been filed against Westinghouse Electric Corp. here. Union officials claim the company tried to interfere with the right to strike by "intimidation or coercion."

The $45 million plant has been idled 16 days by a strike of 2,000 workers. Settlement has been delayed because of disputed disciplinary action the company said it would take against 97 workers it claims staged an unauthorized walkout the night before the strike was called. The charges were mailed last night to the National Labor Relations Board regional office, Cincinnati.

Famed Program Set Sunday By History Society

It will be the 42nd annual celebration of the Ohio History Day Association. And plans have been made as usual to hold it in the shade of Ohio's most famous tree, the big Logan Elm a short distance south of Circleville.

The program will be in charge of Saltcreek Township School, and activities are scheduled to start at 2 p. m. In the event of rain, the program will be held in the school's auditorium.

Saltcreek School is located on Route 56 a short distance east of Circleville. Logan Elm Park is about seven miles south of the city, approximately one mile east of Route 23.

PARKING AND picnic facilities are available at the scenic spot. The park is administered by the historical society, which was founded in 1912 at Circleville.

Sunday afternoon's program will open with a concert by the Adelphi Band, followed by the devotional by the Rev. Richard McDowell of Laurelville.

The Pledge and Salute to the Flag will be by Dale Drake. Carol Ann Spangler will recite Logan's Speech, and then music will be

Zanesville Fears City Bankruptcy

ZANESVILLE (AP) — Local officials, afraid their city will be bankrupt unless they raise $28,000 by noon tomorrow, meet with the county budget commission today to determine what help the county can provide.

The city claims the county owes Zanesville some revenues from sales tax and intangible personal property taxes distributed by the state. County officials said they might consider giving the city an "advance." Besides the $28,000 needed to pay interest on bonds, city officials said $40,000 is neded by Oct. 5 to meet the city payroll. Zanesville is about $90,000 in debt with only slightly more than $3,000 in the city treasury.

McCarran Funeral Set For Saturday

A congressional delegation will attend the funeral. The rosary was scheduled for 8 p. m. tomorrow in St. Thomas Aquinas cathedral here, with the body to lie in state afterward.

Pontifical mass will be celebrated at the cathedral at 10:30 a. m. Saturday. An invocation, with remarks from senators and benediction by Bishop R. J. Dwyer of the Reno diocese, was to be held at 1 p. m. in the state building.

Soviet Said Ready To Detail Stand On Atomic Proposals

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Reports spread today that Andrei Vishinsky might unveil new Soviet atomic proposals to the U. N. General Assembly this afternoon. Observers predicted they would boil down to another demand for a ban on nuclear weapons.

The chief Russian delegate was scheduled to take the assembly floor shortly after the opening of today's plenary session to give a review of Soviet policy as his contribution to the 60 - nation group's opening general debate.

Vishinsky's speech, on which he had been working in seclusion all week, was expected to set forth the Soviet bloc's line on the American atoms-for-peace proposals and other vital East-West issues.

One Latin - American delegate said he had reliable word that the usually fiery Soviet spokesman would couch his remarks in conciliatory vein in an effort to show Russia is treating the atomic question with an open mind.

MOST MEMBERS felt, however, that Vishinsky would reiterate his governments refusal to go along with the Eisenhower-Dulles atomic plan unless it tied in a declaration outlawing nuclear weapons.

This stand was made clear in the recent publication of previously secret notes the United States and Russia exchanged on President Eisenhower's original proposal to the U.N. last December for a peaceful atomic pool. Secretary of State Dulles rejected the Soviet condition as a ruse to disarm the free nations while Russia continued to bolster her arsenals.

Vishinsky himself gave a hint of the tack he might take when he demanded last week that the U. N. Security Council, in which Russia has veto power, have authority over any international atomic agency. The U. S. has shown no willingness to place the proposed agency under such control.

Some quarters, feeling Vishinsky timed his speech to coincide with the nine-power London conference on German rearmament, predicted he might indicate Russian willingness to accept reunification of the former Reich. But any reunification offer was expected to follow closely the lines the Soviets, have laid down in the past, with demands for such advantages to the Communist East German regime that the West would shun.

There also was speculation Vishinsky might reiterate Russia's call for an all-European security system as an offset to NATO.

Nation's Weather Varying Widely

CHICAGO (AP)—There was a variety of weather across the nation today.

It was cool, with snow in the Rocky Mountain regions; cool in northern Midwest areas; hot and humid in the Southwest, and around normal in most other parts of the country.

Snow was reported from Northern Montana as far south as Laramie, Wyo., which reported two inches on the ground. Temperatures were below freezing in some places. Colder Canadian air continued to move southward across the plains. Showers and thunderstorms were reported from the western Great Lakes southward into Texas.

Ohio Deaths Dip

CLEVELAND (AP) — There were 264 fewer accidental deaths in Ohio during the first eight months of this year than during the similar period in 1953. There were 156 fewer traffic deaths, 100 fewer home fatalities and 55 fewer public accident deaths not involving motor vehicles.

Highway Fatality Toll On Decline

The National Safety Council reported today that August was the eighth month in a row in which traffic deaths have been cut.

The safety streak means a saving of almost 1,500 lives. At the end of August 1953 traffic deaths totaled 24,200; the same time this year they amounted to 22,780, a cut of six per cent.

Belgian Plan For Controls Gets Approval

Optimism Runs High At London Conference Of 9 Western Powers

LONDON (AP)—A German spokesman says the nine-power conference on freeing and rearming Germany has approved a compromise plan for establishing and controlling a European arms pool.

The plan, put forward by Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, would divide responsibility for safeguards between a new seven-nation European alliance and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Previously, France had insisted on the seven-nation authority exercising controls while West Germany held out for NATO supervision.

The German spokesman said the Spaak compromise met with the approval of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Premier Pierre Mendes France and was also acceptable to the other delegations. He described the Spaak memorandum put before the conference today as "excellent."

The German announcement came shortly before the nine foreign ministers reassembled for their afternoon session.

AN AIR OF optimism is being felt over chances of an agreement to put German divisions in the line against Communist aggression.

Hopes soared as a result of the pledge by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden yesterday that British troops and air forces will be kept on the European mainland indefinitely.

A good welcome was also given U. S. Sceretary of State Dulles promise that he would urge President Eisenhower to renew the U.S. pledge to maintain troops in Europe if a rearmed Germany was brought into the Atlantic alliance.

The other eight foreign ministers apparently think chances of agreement are so good that they are practically ignoring Dulles' warning that failure might result in withdrawal of the American forces from Europe.

Dulles, Eden, Adenauer and Mendes-France arranged to get together late today to talk over the issue of granting West Germany complete sovereignty.

Successful conclusion of these and the companion talks on Ger-

Bloodmobile Turnout Here Below Needs

Larry Goeller, vice-chairman of the program, admitted "things didn't turn out nearly as well as we hoped for." He said he was especially concerned over the disappointing turnout because of the way it came about. Forty-one persons scheduled to report failed to appear.

Goeller stressed that the success of a bloodmobile visit rests almost entirely upon the schedule of donors drawn up in advance. Those who are unable to report on schedule, it was emphasized, should at least call and notify the officials in charge.

In all, 118 pints of blood were collected.

Ohio Fireworks Company Sued

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Chicago man and his teen-age son sued the Spencer Fireworks & Novelty Co. of Polk, Ohio, for $125,000 yesterday. They said an aerial bomb made by the company blew off two of the boy's fingers and part of a thumb. Bringing the suit were the father, Herbert G. Ostrom, and his son, John, 15.

The lawsuit in federal court here said the boy ordered 72 aerial bombs from the firm in 1953. He lost the fingers when one of the bombs exploded the moment he lit the wick, said the suit.

The father and son said the firm advertised its fireworks as being safe for children to use, while the aerial bomb was "truly a bomb." The father asked $25,000 damages and the boy $100,000.

New Indochinese Aid Plan Readied

U.S., French Agree On Program In Billion-Dollar Category

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and France evidently will put into immediate action a new $1 billion program to bolster Indochina against communism.

Agreement on the program was announced last night in a communique issued after three days' talks between top French and American officials.

The communique gave only general statements of determination "to support the complete independence of Cambodia, Laos and Viet Nam."

But it marked the first time since the shooting war ended on July 21 that the United States and France have actually had a common action program. In this sense it probably means a new era of cooperation in the struggle to save Indochina.

Aside from the communique, it was learned from official sources that the main provisions of the program are:

1. FRANCE'S 10-division force in Viet Nam will be systematically reduced. The aim is to get all French forces out of Viet Nam by March 1956, about four months prior to elections on whether the whole of Viet Nam will go Communist.

2. The withdrawal will be geared to a relatively slow schedule so that no power vacuum will be created. Time will be permitted for the training of larger native forces which eventually will assume responsibility for the country's security. Native forces will be trained also in Laos and Cambodia.

3. Large quantities of military equipment, supplied by the United States to the French for fighting the Communists in Indochina will be turned over to the natives.

The Geneva peace settlement forbids shipping in additional new arms but the United States stands ready to provide replacement arms which the peace settlement permits.

4. The United States tentatively is committed to give financial aid to the Paris government for support of its shrinking forces in Indochina. France wants this aid at the rate of $400 million a year. However, funds were voted by Congress for a fighting war, not for holding the line in peace, and Eisenhower administration officials plan to seek approval from congressional leaders before making the commitment firm.

5. THE UNITED States will give direct financial support to Viet Nam, Cambodia, and Laos at the rate of about $385 million a year for the rest of this year. The rate may increase next year as their military forces grow.

The program developed in the conference led by U. S. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, France's minister for Indochina Guy LaChambre and French Finance Minister Edgar Faure, is a renewal of the French-American cooperation which has been in a state of collapse since the Indochina war ended.

man rearmament is expected to bring these results:

1. The United States, Britain and France will announce their intention to end the occupation of West Germany, giving the Bonn republic virtually full control over both external and internal affairs.

2. THE GERMANS then will issue a declaration offering to join a proposed new seven-nation European alliance and the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

3. Under a reported compromise plan being worked out, the European alliance will organize controls to be place on the arms and armaments of member nations, Britain, France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

4. The administration of these controls, primarily designed to prevent any runaway German rearmament, would be in the hands of NATO.

Resident Finds Pilfered Cycle In River Here

A motorcycle stolen from the Yates Buick Co. on S. Court St. early Tuesday was found in the Scioto River near the W. Main St. bridge Wednesday.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff reported that the cycle was discovered by Charles Lemaster, of E. Logan St., who was fishing in the river at approximately 6 p. m.

The cycle was stolen at 4:30 a. m. Tuesday and belonged to an employee of the firm, Orrin Diltz. Including equipment, the motorcycle was valued at $2,000, according to city police who first investigated the case.

Lemaster told the sheriff he had been fishing in the river, at the western edge of town, when he spotted "a pair of handle bars sticking out of the water".

HE WENT to his house and brought his son Robert back with him to verify his find. Then the authorities were notified.

Sheriff Radcliff remarked that the cycle was in four to five feet of water. A wrecker had to be called to tow it back to the county jail house.

POW Unconcerned About His Fate

SAN ANTONIO, Tex (AP)—Prosecution rebuttal testimony began today in the general court-martial of Cpl. Claude Batchelor, charged with collaborating with the enemy and tattling on fellow prisoners while a captive of the Chinese Communists in North Korea.

As the defense wound up its case yesterday, Batchelor's civilian counsel, Joel Westbrook, said the youth didn't really care whether he is convicted or judged innocent. The attorney said Batchelor did not care "because what he wanted to accomplish, telling the story of what communism can do, has been accomplished."

Music Box Union, Sellers Cited In Probe

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) says juke box unions and operators are creating a monopoly that may result in national ban of the music boxes.

Bender made his remarks last night during a hearing of his House Subcommittee on Labor Racketeering. He said the FBI and federal trade commission already are investigating to determine whether trade is being restrained.

Herbert H. Wedeven of Northern Music Inc., a distributor of new machines, had testified he could sell 100 new model boxes if the juke box operators association would buy them and place them in cafes where new models are desired by the proprietors.

He said the operators, however, won't buy them.

"Then the operator has tied up each such location and the owner can't buy that machine?" Bender inquired. "Wouldn't that be a monopoly?"

Wedeven replied this was true.

Another distributor here, George George said no one could buy less than five machines unless he already is an operator.

"This is only following a pattern that has been established in the area," the witness explained. "It has nothing to do with rules of the Phonograph Merchants Assn."

Earlier, witnesses said the association and the AFL Vending Machine Service Employes Union pinch out the independents or hold down their business size.

Richard Clause of Chardon said one of his juke boxes was blasted with a shotgun and two others ruined with chemicals when he defied the AFL juke box union.

70 School Bus Inspection Ends; Patrol Finds 59 Not Satisfactory

State Highway Patrolman Gene Miller reported Thursday that the regular yearly inspection of school busses in Pickaway County made by the Patrol, has been completed.

Patrolman Miller declared that of the 70 vehicles inspected by himself and Patrolman Bob Greene and Jim Gates, only 11 were found completely satisfactory.

County Superintendent of Schools George McDowell, who received one of the five copies of the report, pointed out that most of the defects were minor. He also took note that none of the busses was found unserviceable.

The inspections took two weeks to complete. In most cases at least two school districts were inspected at one point. However, some areas had a sufficient number of vehicle so that they had to be checked singly.

MCDOWELL DISCLOSED that 14 busses are privately owned while the remaining 56, two belong to Circleville Township.

He added that Scioto Township's eight busses are all privately owned. But Patrolman Miller contended that only one of these passed inspection. He added that these were among the oldest vehicles with the latest model being a 1941.

More than three dozen items were checked on each bus. The patrol ordered the drivers to correct the situations within 15 days.

After repairs are made, the driver must sign a correction slip and turn it in to the superintendent who must also sign it. Patrolman explained that spot checks will be made periodically by the Patrol.

He listed some of the more frequent violations as: gas proof flooring, seats and cushions and tail pipes. He noted that some older seats will have to be recovered over seat springs which are jutting up.

Auto Involved In Crash Here Is Stolen One

A car from which the driver fled following a collision Sunday evening is reported as having been stolen from Battle Creek, Mich.

Deputy Sheriff Walter Richards reported that he was called to the crash at the north city limits only to discover that one of the drivers was missing. Papers found in the car indicated it was from Michigan although there was a Kentucky license plate on the machine.

Shortly after, while Richards made patrolling Route 23 north of here he spotted the driver from a description given him. However, the driver, who was thought to be about 19 years old, fled into a field under cover of the approaching darkness.

The deputy described how a hastily formed small possee gave up after a fruitless search. But Richards said he began tracing proceedings immediately.

THE CAR was stolen from the Michigan city Sept. 23, it was learned. The correct license plate was found under the rear seat.

The Kentucky plate was traced to a car which had been sold for junk in that state. There were no clues as to the whereabouts of the escapee.

Wife-Killer Heading For Death Penalty

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A mild-appearing, white-haired 61-year-old man, whose three wives have died violently, will be sentenced to death here Monday.

George F. Sack, questioned by police about his first wife's death and found innocent by reason of insanity after his second wife's death, was convicted by an all-male jury here last night of murdering his third wife.

A death sentence is mandatory.

The jury took seven hours to decide that the dapper, precise Sack did away with his wife because he feared she was going to divorce him and claim part of his $125,000 in property.

The state contended he did it by shoving her into the luggage compartment of his automobile last February and keeping her there until she suffocated. The body was found dumped in a vacant lot.

George Cary, who said he happened to be walking near the lot at the time, was the state's key witness. He said he saw a man carry something from a car into the lot. He wrote down the car's license number, and turned it over to police. The number was Sack's.

Sack's first wife died in an apartment house fire in Chicago in the early 1920s. His second was killed a few years later in Chicago by a gun shot. Sack was accused of killing her. Defended by the famed attorney, Clarence Darrow, Sack was found insane, and went to a mental hospital for several years.

Negroes To Carry Hillsboro School Fuss To High Courts

COLUMBUS (AP)—Stalled by a district judge's ruling yesterday, Negro leaders planned today to carry their fight for immediate school integration in Hillsboro all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary.

U. S. Judge John H. Druffel declined to act at present on a request he stop "enforced segregation" in Hillsboro schools. He said he turned down an injunction bid because any decision might prove contrary to a policy yet to be determined by the Supreme Court.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People is making the Hillsboro issue an opening move in its fight for immediate admittance of Negroes to previously all-white schools.

John L. Francis, president of the Ohio conference of NAACP branches, said last night he was "shocked" at Druffel's ruling and would appeal "to the Supreme Court if necessary."

NAACP lawyer Russell Carter said he would file an appeal to the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati today.

Carter said Druffel shouldn't have to wait for the Supreme Court. It has "nothing to do with the Hillsboro case except on the general principle that segregation is illegal," he said.

Druffel continued the Hillsboro case until two weeks after the Supreme Court makes its final entry because, he said, the high tribunal is "setting the pace" for lower courts.

Hillsboro officials say segregation doesn't exist in their southwestern Ohio community of 5,100.

Before the Supreme Court ruling, the 67 Negro grade school children attended Lincoln school. The more than 800 whites in that age bracket went to Webster and Washington schools. The high school was mixed.

After Negroes had been enrolled by Webster and Washington schools, the school board said classes were becoming overcrowded and rezoned the city's school districts. Now 11 Negroes attend previously all-white classes. The rest were channeled back to the Lincoln school.

The board says the rezoning was along residential lines. The NAACP says it was along racial lines but yesterday advised Negroes to abide by it.

The school board testified they plan to integrate all school pupils when new buildings are completed within two and a half years.

At the same time, accusations of segregation were cropping up in another southwestern Ohio city, about 50 miles away.

For the second straight day, the 12 children of five Negro women in Middletown were turned away from a nearly all-white school.

The youngsters have been assigned to an all-Negro school but their parents claim they live in the white school district.

In Hillsboro this morning the Negro mothers continued the same policy they have observed for several weeks — taking their children to the nearly all-white schools and returning home with them when they were denied admission.

Ohio Utilities Code Revision Being Urged

COLUMBUS (AP)—Delegates to the Ohio Municipal League Conference yesterday were told Ohio needs revision of an "antiquated" utilities rate base formula. Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze said the formula results in overcharges of $50 million a year.

He addressed the group during the opening of its three-day session.

"What we want," the mayor said, "and I firmly believe the utility companies will eventually see the light, is a change in the Ohio law which is obsolete and antiquated by modern standards and which no longer serves the purpose for which it was first created."

Celebrezze said the present formula for determining rates is based on the cost to reproduce new a company's equipment minus certain depreciation.

He said this works a double disadvantage to municipalities because "not only does it hide the true profits made by the utilities, but it also arms them with their strongest bargaining weapon.

"Our present price level is the highest in the history of the country. The cost of reproducing turbogenerators, steel pipe, buildings and the thousands of items used by utilities is higher today than ever before."

He said cities sometimes grant high rate increases because of the possibility of the state utilities commission granting even higher increases if cities refuse.

"Each new rate case requires new reproduction cost estimates. I was shocked to learn that in some instances over half a million dollars have been spent by certain utilities to prepare their cases. The consumers pay this bill, too."

GI Admires Auto; It Brings Death

LEBANON (AP)—An Ohio soldier's admiration for an automobile in which he had hitched a ride cost him his life today.

He was Pvt. James A. Monroe, 19, of Mingo Junction, stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Donald Mergard, 25, Cincinnati, was injured in the accident.

When the soldier admired the car, he was allowed to drive it. He lost control on a curve on U.S. 22, a short distance from Foster, and the automobile overturned.

Ohio Fuel Asking For New Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. yesterday asked the power commission for permission to build 10.6 miles of pipeline and an 880-horsepower compressor station.

The new pipeline would be in Hocking and Fairfield counties with the compressor station in Guernsey County. Estimated cost of the project is $942,900. The company said construction would improve underground natural gas storage operations in Ohio.

Lonesome Puppy Summons Help

WELLAND, Ont. (AP)—A telephone operator heard painful moans over a line yesterday and feared the worst. She called police.

Constable William Calder found someone was in trouble all right—a 6-month-old boxer puppy named Mugs. His owners had locked him in a shop six miles north of here.

Lonesome, mugs had knocked the phone off the hook, laid down beside it and whimpered.

$45 Million Federal Aid Due Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly $45 million have been earmarked for federal aid for school construction in 288 communities whose school populations have been increased by federal installations and activities.

Commissioner of Education Samuel M. Brownell announced today that the reservation of funds for projects filed with the Office of Education before June 30, 1952, was made possible by an appropriation of $55 million by Congress this year.

Actual location of the money is subject to final approval of individual applications.

Brownell said he will shortly announce the reservations in the remaining $10 million.

The reservations announced today for 40 states, Hawaii and Alaska, include:

Ohio (total $547,730) — Berea city district, $94,812; Kettering local district, Dayton, $122,418; New Carlisle-Bethel local district, New Carlisle, $200,193; Brooklyn city district Cleveland, $57,749; Bethel local district, Tipp City $34990; burg, $5,502; Wayne Twp. district, Dayton, $20,650; Hebron local district Hebron $2,509; Madison local, Groveport, $8,907.

Rhodes Statement Said Groundless

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — Mahoning County Clerk of Courts William F. Quinlan has labeled as groundless a statement by State Auditor James Rhodes, GOP gubernatorial candidate, concerning turnpike land-buying.

The Rhodes report said Mrs. Sophia Sheely of New Springfield had been given a check for $10,000 without trial on her claim and that neither she nor her husband were ever called to court.

That came as surprising news to Quinlan, Judge Harold B. Doyle and the Sheelys. Among the evidence Quinlan plans to send to Columbus is the jury verdict with the signatures of the 12 jurors who set the $10,000 figure.

Highway Signs Around County Face Inquiry

A inquiry into various highway signs in Pickaway County has brought a partial answer from the officer of S. O. Linzell, director of the department of highways for Ohio.

H. G. Eckhardt, an engineer in the bureau of traffic of the department, replied concerning school bus and yellow line signs. According to Linzell, questions involving other departments are also on their way.

In answer to the sign situation, Eckhardt revealed the following:

"In order that we could give you exact information regarding the number of 'Stop for School Bus Loading or Unloading' and 'Do Not Cross Yellow Line When in Your Lane' signs, we checked the sign erection record for Pickaway County, and found that there are six 'Stop for School Bus' and 12 'Do Not Cross Yellow Line' signs erected in your county.

"THIS NUMBER is about the normal for an internal county, as the signs were designed to be erected on state highways in the counties adjoining the state lines, to inform the out of state dirvers of the Ohio Law. We feel that drivers driving with an Ohio driver license should be conversant with the legal requirements for driving in Ohio, as it would be impossible to erect signs giving notice of all the motor vehicle laws required for driver operation of vehicles on streets and highways in Ohio.

"However, in internal counties (such as Pickaway), we do erect these signs where there is indication of excessive violation, or where the yellow No Passing Lines have been changed or lengthened, to call attention to such changes to the local drivers."

Firm To Spend $385,000 On Its Plant Here

the present soy-bean processing unit will be removed, and replaced by a new feed manufacturing plant.

Ralston Purina purchased the local plant around a quarter-century ago as part of the H. M. Crites property.

FOR THE past four years, Couch said, the plant has been operating 24 hours a day.

His announcement, for local residents, highlighted the firm's national observance of its 60th anniversary. As part of the celebration here, the firm is giving each of its employes an automatic roaster.

Delivery of the roasters, Couch said, will be started here Thursday.

Anticoagulants Said Boon In Heart Cases

CLEVELAND (AP)—Patients who receive anticoagulant drugs following heart attacks have a third greater chance of surviving than those given regular treatment, a nationwide survey of 1,031 persons showed today.

The study was conducted at 16 hospitals throughout the country under the sponsorship of the American Heart Assn.

The report was published by the committee on anticoagulants. Anticoagulant drugs are given to check the formation of blood clots.

The study showed 23.4 per cent of the 422 patients who received standard treatment for heart attacks died within six months. Of the 589 given anticoagulants, 16 per cent died.

Heart attacks occur most frequently when the blood supply to the heart muscle is blocked by the formation of a clot in one of the coronary arteries, physicians pointed out. The block is called coronary thrombosis.

The study also showed that clots in other parts of the circulatory system, defined as complications, occurred at the rate of 42 per 100 cases among those not receiving the anticoagulants and only 13 per 100 among those receiving the drug.

The only unfavorable effect noted when the anticoagulants were administered, the report said, was an increase in episodes of bleeding. This was reported not excessive, however, and was said to be greatly reduced as the physician gained experience with the drug.

New Indochinese Aid Plan Readied

U.S., French Agree On Program In Billion-Dollar Category

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and France evidently will put into immediate action a new $1 billion program to bolster Indochina against communism.

Agreement on the program was announced last night in a communique issued after three days' talks between top French and American officials.

The communique gave only general statements of determination "to support the complete independence of Cambodia, Laos and Viet Nam."

But it marked the first time since the shooting war ended on July 21 that the United States and France have actually had a common action program. In this sense it probably means a new era of cooperation in the struggle to save Indochina.

Aside from the communique, it was learned from official sources that the main provisions of the program are:

1. FRANCE'S 10-division force in Viet Nam will be systematically reduced. The aim is to get all French forces out of Viet Nam by March 1956, about four months prior to elections on whether the whole of Viet Nam will go Communist.

2. The withdrawal will be geared to a relatively slow schedule so that no power vacuum will be created. Time will be permitted for the training of larger native forces which eventually will assume responsibility for the country's security. Native forces will be trained also in Laos and Cambodia.

3. Large quantities of military equipment, supplied by the United States to the French for fighting the Communists in Indochina will be turned over to the natives.

The Geneva peace settlement forbids shipping in additional new arms but the United States stands ready to provide replacement arms which the peace settlement permits.

4. The United States tentatively is committed to give financial aid to the Paris government for support of its shrinking forces in Indochina. France wants this aid at the rate of $400 million a year. However, funds were voted by Congress for a fighting war, not for holding the line in peace, and Eisenhower administration officials plan to seek approval from congressional leaders before making the commitment firm.

5. THE UNITED States will give direct financial support to Viet Nam, Cambodia, and Laos at the rate of about $385 million a year for the rest of this year. The rate may increase next year as their military forces grow.

The program developed in the conference led by U. S. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, France's minister for Indochina Guy LaChambre and French Finance Minister Edgar Faure, is a renewal of the French-American cooperation which has been in a state of collapse since the Indochina war ended.

Belgian Plan For Controls Gets Approval

man rearmament is expected to bring these results:

1. The United States, Britain and France will announce their intention to end the occupation of West Germany, giving the Bonn republic virtually full control over both external and internal affairs.

2. THE GERMANS then will issue a declaration offering to join a proposed new seven-nation European alliance and the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

3. Under a reported compromise plan being worked out, the European alliance will organize controls to be place on the arms and armaments of member nations, Britain, France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

4. The administration of these controls, primarily designed to prevent any runaway German rearmament, would be in the hands of NATO.

Resident Finds Pilfered Cycle In River Here

A motorcycle stolen from the Yates Buick Co. on S. Court St. early Tuesday was found in the Scioto River near the W. Main St. bridge Wednesday.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff reported that the cycle was discovered by Charles Lemaster, of E. Logan St., who was fishing in the river at approximately 6 p. m.

The cycle was stolen at 4:30 a. m. Tuesday and belonged to an employee of the firm, Orrin Diltz. Including equipment, the motorcycle was valued at $2,000, according to city police who first investigated the case.

Lemaster told the sheriff he had been fishing in the river, at the western edge of town, when he spotted "a pair of handle bars sticking out of the water".

HE WENT to his house and brought his son Robert back with him to verify his find. Then the authorities were notified.

Sheriff Radcliff remarked that the cycle was in four to five feet of water. A wrecker had to be called to tow it back to the county jail house.

POW Unconcerned About His Fate

SAN ANTONIO, Tex (AP)—Prosecution rebuttal testimony began today in the general court-martial of Cpl. Claude Batchelor, charged with collaborating with the enemy and tattling on fellow prisoners while a captive of the Chinese Communists in North Korea.

As the defense wound up its case yesterday, Batchelor's civilian counsel, Joel Westbrook, said the youth didn't really care whether he is convicted or judged innocent. The attorney said Batchelor did not care "because what he wanted to accomplish, telling the story of what communism can do, has been accomplished."

Music Box Union, Sellers Cited In Probe

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) says juke box unions and operators are creating a monopoly that may result in national ban of the music boxes.

Bender made his remarks last night during a hearing of his House Subcommittee on Labor Racketeering. He said the FBI and federal trade commission already are investigating to determine whether trade is being restrained.

Herbert H. Wedeven of Northern Music Inc., a distributor of new machines, had testified he could sell 100 new model boxes if the juke box operators association would buy them and place them in cafes where new models are desired by the proprietors.

He said the operators, however, won't buy them.

"Then the operator has tied up each such location and the owner can't buy that machine?" Bender inquired. "Wouldn't that be a monopoly?"

Wedeven replied this was true.

Another distributor here, George George said no one could buy less than five machines unless he already is an operator.

"This is only following a pattern that has been established in the area," the witness explained. "It has nothing to do with rules of the Phonograph Merchants Assn."

Earlier, witnesses said the association and the AFL Vending Machine Service Employes Union pinch out the independents or hold down their business size.

Richard Clause of Chardon said one of his juke boxes was blasted with a shotgun and two others ruined with chemicals when he defied the AFL juke box union.

Actor Says Work Rather Spotty

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Frankie Darro, arrested on a non-support charge, says film work for him has been spotty in recent years.

He was arrested yesterday on a warrant signed by his ex-wife, Betty Darro. She charged he has failed to support their 9-year-old daughter, Darlene.

A car from which the driver fled following a collision Sunday evening is reported as having been stolen from Battle Creek, Mich.

Deputy Sheriff Walter Richards reported that he was called to the crash at the north city limits only to discover that one of the drivers was missing. Papers found in the car indicated it was from Michigan although there was a Kentucky license plate on the machine.

Shortly after, while Richards made patrolling Route 23 north of here he spotted the driver from a description given him. However, the driver, who was thought to be about 19 years old, fled into a field under cover of the approaching darkness.

The deputy described how a hastily formed small possee gave up after a fruitless search. But Richards said he began tracing proceedings immediately.

THE CAR was stolen from the Michigan city Sept. 23, it was learned. The correct license plate was found under the rear seat.

The Kentucky plate was traced to a car which had been sold for junk in that state. There were no clues as to the whereabouts of the escapee.

Wife-Killer Heading For Death Penalty

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A mild-appearing, white-haired 61-year-old man, whose three wives have died violently, will be sentenced to death here Monday.

George F. Sack, questioned by police about his first wife's death and found innocent by reason of insanity after his second wife's death, was convicted by an all-male jury here last night of murdering his third wife.

A death sentence is mandatory.

The jury took seven hours to decide that the dapper, precise Sack did away with his wife because he feared she was going to divorce him and claim part of his $125,000 in property.

The state contended he did it by shoving her into the luggage compartment of his automobile last February and keeping her there until she suffocated. The body was found dumped in a vacant lot.

George Cary, who said he happened to be walking near the lot at the time, was the state's key witness. He said he saw a man carry something from a car into the lot. He wrote down the car's license number, and turned it over to police. The number was Sack's.

Sack's first wife died in an apartment house fire in Chicago in the early 1920s. His second was killed a few years later in Chicago by a gun shot. Sack was accused of killing her. Defended by the famed attorney, Clarence Darrow, Sack was found insane, and went to a mental hospital for several years.

70 School Bus Inspection Ends; Patrol Finds 59 Not Satisfactory

State Highway Patrolman Gene Miller reported Thursday that the regular yearly inspection of school busses in Pickaway County made by the Patrol, has been completed.

Patrolman Miller declared that of the 70 vehicles inspected by himself and Patrolman Bob Greene and Jim Gates, only 11 were found completely satisfactory.

County Superintendent of Schools George McDowell, who received one of the five copies of the report, pointed out that most of the defects were minor. He also took note that none of the busses was found unserviceable.

The inspections took two weeks to complete. In most cases at least two school districts were inspected at one point. However, some areas had a sufficient number of vehicle so that they had to be checked singly.

MCDOWELL DISCLOSED that 14 busses are privately owned while the remaining 56, two belong to Circleville Township.

He added that Scioto Township's eight busses are all privately owned. But Patrolman Miller contended that only one of these passed inspection. He added that these were among the oldest vehicles with the latest model being a 1941.

More than three dozen items were checked on each bus. The patrol ordered the drivers to correct the situations within 15 days.

After repairs are made, the driver must sign a correction slip and turn it in to the superintendent who must also sign it. Patrolman explained that spot checks will be made periodically by the Patrol.

He listed some of the more frequent violations as: gas proof flooring, seats and cushions and tail pipes. He noted that some older seats will have to be recovered over seat springs which are jutting up.

Rhodes Statement Said Groundless

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — Mahoning County Clerk of Courts William F. Quinlan has labeled as groundless a statement by State Auditor James Rhodes, GOP gubernatorial candidate, concerning turnpike land-buying.

The Rhodes report said Mrs. Sophia Sheely of New Springfield had been given a check for $10,000 without trial on her claim and that neither she nor her husband were ever called to court.

That came as surprising news to Quinlan, Judge Harold B. Doyle and the Sheelys. Among the evidence Quinlan plans to send to Columbus is the jury verdict with the signatures of the 12 jurors who set the $10,000 figure.

Negroes To Carry Hillsboro School Fuss To High Courts

COLUMBUS (AP)—Stalled by a district judge's ruling yesterday, Negro leaders planned today to carry their fight for immediate school integration in Hillsboro all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary.

U. S. Judge John H. Druffel declined to act at present on a request he stop "enforced segregation" in Hillsboro schools. He said he turned down an injunction bid because any decision might prove contrary to a policy yet to be determined by the Supreme Court.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People is making the Hillsboro issue an opening move in its fight for immediate admittance of Negroes to previously all-white schools.

John L. Francis, president of the Ohio conference of NAACP branches, said last night he was "shocked" at Druffel's ruling and would appeal "to the Supreme Court if necessary."

NAACP lawyer Russell Carter said he would file an appeal to the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati today.

Carter said Druffel shouldn't have to wait for the Supreme Court. It has "nothing to do with the Hillsboro case except on the general principle that segregation is illegal," he said.

Druffel continued the Hillsboro case until two weeks after the Supreme Court makes its final entry because, he said, the high tribunal is "setting the pace" for lower courts.

Hillsboro officials say segregation doesn't exist in their southwestern Ohio community of 5,100.

Before the Supreme Court ruling, the 67 Negro grade school children attended Lincoln school. The more than 800 whites in that age bracket went to Webster and Washington schools. The high school was mixed.

After Negroes had been enrolled by Webster and Washington schools, the school board said classes were becoming overcrowded and rezoned the city's school districts. Now 11 Negroes attend previously all-white classes. The rest were channeled back to the Lincoln school.

The board says the rezoning was along residential lines. The NAACP says it was along racial lines but yesterday advised Negroes to abide by it.

The school board testified they plan to integrate all school pupils when new buildings are completed within two and a half years.

At the same time, accusations of segregation were cropping up in another southwestern Ohio city, about 50 miles away.

For the second straight day, the 12 children of five Negro women in Middletown were turned away from a nearly all-white school.

The youngsters have been assigned to an all-Negro school but their parents claim they live in the white school district.

In Hillsboro this morning the Negro mothers continued the same policy they have observed for several weeks — taking their children to the nearly all-white schools and returning home with them when they were denied admission.

Ohio Utilities Code Revision Being Urged

COLUMBUS (AP)—Delegates to the Ohio Municipal League Conference yesterday were told Ohio needs revision of an "antiquated" utilities rate base formula. Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze said the formula results in overcharges of $50 million a year.

He addressed the group during the opening of its three-day session.

"What we want," the mayor said, "and I firmly believe the utility companies will eventually see the light, is a change in the Ohio law which is obsolete and antiquated by modern standards and which no longer serves the purpose for which it was first created."

Celebrezze said the present formula for determining rates is based on the cost to reproduce new a company's equipment minus certain depreciation.

He said this works a double disadvantage to municipalities because "not only does it hide the true profits made by the utilities, but it also arms them with their strongest bargaining weapon.

"Our present price level is the highest in the history of the country. The cost of reproducing turbogenerators, steel pipe, buildings and the thousands of items used by utilities is higher today than ever before."

He said cities sometimes grant high rate increases because of the possibility of the state utilities commission granting even higher increases if cities refuse.

"Each new rate case requires new reproduction cost estimates. I was shocked to learn that in some instances over half a million dollars have been spent by certain utilities to prepare their cases. The consumers pay this bill, too."

GI Admires Auto; It Brings Death

LEBANON (AP)—An Ohio soldier's admiration for an automobile in which he had hitched a ride cost him his life today.

He was Pvt. James A. Monroe, 19, of Mingo Junction, stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Donald Mergard, 25, Cincinnati, was injured in the accident.

When the soldier admired the car, he was allowed to drive it. He lost control on a curve on U.S. 22, a short distance from Foster, and the automobile overturned.

Ohio Fuel Asking For New Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. yesterday asked the power commission for permission to build 10.6 miles of pipeline and an 880-horsepower compressor station.

The new pipeline would be in Hocking and Fairfield counties with the compressor station in Guernsey County. Estimated cost of the project is $942,900. The company said construction would improve underground natural gas storage operations in Ohio.

Lonesome Puppy Summons Help

WELLAND, Ont. (AP)—A telephone operator heard painful moans over a line yesterday and feared the worst. She called police.

Constable William Calder found someone was in trouble all right—a 6-month-old boxer puppy named Mugs. His owners had locked him in a shop six miles north of here.

Lonesome, mugs had knocked the phone off the hook, laid down beside it and whimpered.

Highway Signs Around County Face Inquiry

A inquiry into various highway signs in Pickaway County has brought a partial answer from the officer of S. O. Linzell, director of the department of highways for Ohio.

H. G. Eckhardt, an engineer in the bureau of traffic of the department, replied concerning school bus and yellow line signs. According to Linzell, questions involving other departments are also on their way.

In answer to the sign situation, Eckhardt revealed the following:

"In order that we could give you exact information regarding the number of 'Stop for School Bus Loading or Unloading' and 'Do Not Cross Yellow Line When in Your Lane' signs, we checked the sign erection record for Pickaway County, and found that there are six 'Stop for School Bus' and 12 'Do Not Cross Yellow Line' signs erected in your county.

"THIS NUMBER is about the normal for an internal county, as the signs were designed to be erected on state highways in the counties adjoining the state lines, to inform the out of state dirvers of the Ohio Law. We feel that drivers driving with an Ohio driver license should be conversant with the legal requirements for driving in Ohio, as it would be impossible to erect signs giving notice of all the motor vehicle laws required for driver operation of vehicles on streets and highways in Ohio.

"However, in internal counties (such as Pickaway), we do erect these signs where there is indication of excessive violation, or where the yellow No Passing Lines have been changed or lengthened, to call attention to such changes to the local drivers."

the present soy-bean processing unit will be removed, and replaced by a new feed manufacturing plant.

Ralston Purina purchased the local plant around a quarter-century ago as part of the H. M. Crites property.

FOR THE past four years, Couch said, the plant has been operating 24 hours a day.

His announcement, for local residents, highlighted the firm's national observance of its 60th anniversary. As part of the celebration here, the firm is giving each of its employes an automatic roaster.

Delivery of the roasters, Couch said, will be started here Thursday.

Anticoagulants Said Boon In Heart Cases

CLEVELAND (AP)—Patients who receive anticoagulant drugs following heart attacks have a third greater chance of surviving than those given regular treatment, a nationwide survey of 1,031 persons showed today.

The study was conducted at 16 hospitals throughout the country under the sponsorship of the American Heart Assn.

The report was published by the committee on anticoagulants. Anticoagulant drugs are given to check the formation of blood clots.

The study showed 23.4 per cent of the 422 patients who received standard treatment for heart attacks died within six months. Of the 589 given anticoagulants, 16 per cent died.

Heart attacks occur most frequently when the blood supply to the heart muscle is blocked by the formation of a clot in one of the coronary arteries, physicians pointed out. The block is called coronary thrombosis.

The study also showed that clots in other parts of the circulatory system, defined as complications, occurred at the rate of 42 per 100 cases among those not receiving the anticoagulants and only 13 per 100 among those receiving the drug.

The only unfavorable effect noted when the anticoagulants were administered, the report said, was an increase in episodes of bleeding. This was reported not excessive, however, and was said to be greatly reduced as the physician gained experience with the drug.

September Gets Approval For Its 'Upturn'

Businessmen Study October To See If It Also Inches Upward

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—September has passed with fair marks its test of providing the start of a "normal seasonal upturn.' Now, businessmen are eyeing October to see if it will produce, in higher production, increased sales and more jobs, in the way that September tentatively points.

Hopes aren't too high — none seems to be expecting a real boom. But signs today are good that the seasonal upturn is under way and that this fall, unlike last years final quarter, will see business working steadily and healthily toward its Christmas peak.

Steel, a basic industry, reports that orders are starting to come in now. Some mills say the orders are better than they had expected.

As a result production schedules are being stepped up. Bethlehem is increasing its production in the Buffalo area. Youngstown Sheet & Tube is resuming output at its Brier Hill works in the Youngstown district.

The steelmen are particularly cheerful because the new demand has come from outsdie the auto industry. They are expecting that big users of their products to come in shortly with orders for the new models the car makers are putting onto the production lines.

Industrial ordering, in general, increased this month, according to most purchasing agents. This should be translated into increased output in October.

Machine tool makers report that a turn for the better in their industry is traceable in part to the new tax law which offers factory on new tools.

Expectations of improved business in industry apparently has sparked some of the buying of industrial stocks in Wall Street.

The stock market managed to pull through September without the sharp break which so often occurs in that month. On the contrary, industrial stock averages have recovered their August losses and approached the end of the month at new highs for the year.

Railroad stocks havent been as popular. The railways, in fact, have had poor earnings reports most of this year, many of them operating at a loss. But here, too, the turn may have come. Several roads report business was better in August and September and are hoping that the upturn will continu through the rest of the year.

Chemical companies, who found business slow earlier in the summer, report that the turn for them came in August, with September continuing the trend. October orders are reported good, and many are looking for a slow upturn through November at least.

Appliance makers are hoping for a good Christmas trade. Television set makers are talking a bit about the demand for color sets, with production getting into stride by the end of the year. Demand for black and white sets has been better than many expected earlier.

Oil companies, with their big gasoline selling season on the wane, are talking now mostly about prospects for 1955. Brewster Jennings, president of Socony-Vacuum, is out with a prediction. His company expects demand for its petroleum products to rise by 3½ per cent next year.

Many stockholders are hoping for good year-end special dividends in their Christmas stockings. Earnings of many companies have stayed fairly good this year. Prospects for better fall business — plus the big cut in federal taxes for some concerns—makes the divident prospects bright.

Shock Kills Man

Young Dem Chiefs Schedule Parley

COLUMBUS (AP)—The next regular session of the Young Democratic Executive Committee will be held Oct. 2-3 at the Commodore Perry Hotel, Toledo.

Mrs. Nelson Lancione, president of the League of Young Democratic Clubs of Ohio, said plans would be made for the League's participation in the fall campaign.

Ex-Students Held

COLUMBUS (AP) — Two former Ohio State University students yesterday were indicted on charges of burglary and grand larceny. They are Robert Van Dyke, 20, of Canton and Robert Lee Finlay, 19, of Columbus, accused of taking electronic equipment valued at $6,000 from the university's radio station, WOSU, Aug. 23.

Not until 1785 were shoes made to fit right and left feet.

Churches Chided For Slow Pace

DAYTON (AP)—Churches have failed to keep abreast of changing family conditions and in some cases provide an inadequate ministry, a community report released here yesterday stated.

The report followed a six-month community study by 57 Dayton Protestant churches and 12 social service agencies. It recommended educating people to understand the available services of their churches and community.

Body Is Sought

LORAIN (AP)—Coast Guardsmen searched last night for the body of Donald Spieker, 37, who disappeared from his 22-foot speedboat Tuesday on Lake Erie. Two fishermen said they saw Spieker lean over the side of the boat then slip into the water.

Jury Dismisses French War Bride

DAYTON (AP)—An attractive 29-year-old French war bride was freed yesterday on a charge of slaying her husband when a Montgomery County grand jury failed to indict her.

Mrs. Anna Cecilia Pigg, mother of four children, had been charged with first degree murder in the shotgun-death of her husband, John 43, during an argument at their home here Sept. 15.

Upon her release, Mrs. Pigg said: "I feel the Lord has been merciful to me. . . ."

Sight Explained

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—State police say that an "apparition" which appeared on a rock behind a home in nearby Mount Carbon and attracted thousands of persons, turned out to be from the arrangement of curtains in a nearby home.

FAMED OLD PIRATE'S ALLEY TO LOSE ITS ART COLONY?

Pirate's alley during the Fiesta outdoor art show draws many tourists.

By WINONA McKENNON
Central Press Correspondent

NEW ORLEANS, La.—In the neart of the lazy French Quarter where words are usually as mellow as the old brick walls and thoughts as fanciful as the delicate lace-work balconies, a controversy now seethes that threatens one of its most colorful institutions.

Pirate's Alley, the narrow block-long thoroughfare which leads past the 160-year-old St. Louis cathedral, has been the haunt of artists for decades. Here, on the iron fence wrought by slaves under Spanish rule, sketches, water colors, portraits and oils are hung by artists.

Tourists, townspeople and visitors wanting a bargain in landscapes, character studies or abstract sketches make their way down the flagstoned lane to pick and choose. Artists, often wearing berets and beards, perch in the welcome shade of the cathedral, set up their easels and go to work.

The system was unregulated and worked very well. So long as the artist had a permit from the city, he could offer his canvasses for sale. Painters from all over the states and many foreign countries were drawn to the quarter and the alley by its picturesque scenes and its reputation as an art center. No one seemed to get rich but $10 to $50 a day could be garnered by the enterprising, talented portraitist.

SOME ARTISTS cannot work well with strangers peering over their shoulders, asking questions. Call it temperament or call it shyness, these people painted in garrets or slave quarter apartments and hung their work on the fence where an agent sat to sell the paintings in the alley.

Commercialism increased. People who are charged with more speculation than ethics began buying machine-made prints. These were tinted in quantity and hung in the alley for sale at low cost.

Resentment arose and the St. Louis cathedral was sued in court, since the iron fence actually is cathedral property. The suit was promptly thrown out. However, bickering continued and at last the matter was brought before City Commissioner Victor Schiro.

THE COMMISSIONER'S room has probably never held so vehement a group. Artists, cliques and agents argued about the term "artist." They insisted certain spaces in the alley were their because they had rented the space from other artists.

The commissioner decided all work displayed in the alley must be original and the artist himself must sell his work. Certain spots along the fence were designated to certain artists, in the hope that peace and art would be served.

The commissioner warned that his representatives will watch to see that the ruling is obeyed. If it is not, no one will be allowed to paint or sell his paintings in the alley.

The quarter waits and wonders. Creative people are well known for their forgetfulness in small matters. Just suppose some morning Jean does not take his landscapes to the alley but sends Jeanne to hang them on the fence and offer them for sale. Should the commissioner's men find this situation, it might mean the end. No more paintings in the cathedral's shadow.

One day that will not be changed by the new edict is the outdoor art show during Spring Fiesta scheduled to begin April 10, 1955. Spring Fiesta is a non-profit organization which presents two weeks of pageantry, entertainment and diversion in New Orleans each year beginning at Easter.

THE OUTDOOR art show, a Fiesta feature, is held in Pirate's Alley where artists as well as sculptors and puppeteers are invited to display their original work, competing for cash prizes.

This year may see more paintings than ever before in the Spring Fiesta art show. If artists lose their privilege to show work in the alley, they will have a sizeable back-log to present at the outdoor art show.

However, habitues of the French Quarter are hoping it goes well and the alley will continue to be hung with portraits and landscapes. Whether one agrees with the commissioner or not, that artists are there not to make money but for atmosphere, natives and visitors alike will be losers if they are forced to pick up their easels and move on.

Hybrid Corn Expert Dies At Age 80

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP) — Dr. George Harrison Shull, internationally recognized as the developer of hybrid corn, died Tuesday in Princeton Hospital after a long illness. He was 80.

Professor emeritus of botany and genetics at Princeton University, he devoted more than 30 years to the development of hybrid corn. His research resulted in increased yields of from 25 to 50 per cent and added more than a half billion dollars a year to the value of the American corn crop without increasing acreage, associates related.

A native of North Hampton, Clark County, Ohio, he was one of seven children, all of whom became educators.

Weekly Food Review

By The Associated Press

Leg of lamb will be the outstanding favorite as a special in the nation's food stores this weekend. Almost as popular as an attraction for thrifty shoppers will be frying chickens.

Meat specialists agree leg of lamb is a first-rate buy. Prices will be down anywhere from four to 10 cents a pound in stores featuring it.

Frying chickens will be two to six cents a pound below week-ago prices. One food man observed that his store's price this weekend will be 10 cents below that of three weeks ago.

The Poultry and Egg National Board says wholesale prices of broiler-fryers are the lowest for this season since back in 1940. The crop of broiler-fryers this year is expected to total around a billion.

Another food specialist commented that turkeys are worth considering for Sunday dinner. "They've been almost a weekly bargain," he said.

There will be scattered specials on various cuts of beef and pork—round roast, prime ribs, steaks, smoked hams, fresh pork picnics and pork loin. But in buying any of these you'll do well to shop carefully because wholesale prices of beef and pork have held at pretty high levels lately.

There was a dip in wholesale pork prices in mid-week, however, which led some meat buyers to report retail prices will be a bit lower within the next week. Some stores are selling items like pork chops at prices below last week's.

Egg prices are going up, as is usual at this time of year. One big chain expects to hike prices by a penny to as much as eight cents a dozen in its stores all over the country. Butter also is in an uptrend—increases of one to six cents a pound are expected this weekend.

Youll find the usual good variety of vegetables available this week. Produce specialists suggest cauliflower, peppers, sweet potatoes, cabbage and potatoes as especially good values. Also good buys are beans, celery, eggplant, brussels sprouts, lettuce and onions.

Many of the tomatoes presently available aren't of too good quality. However, increasing supplies from California promise good eating.

Grapes and apples are tagged the best buys in fruit. Among grapes youll find delicious eating in Thompson seedless, red tokays and malagas. Good values in apples can be had in McIntosh and some green cooking varieties.

Northeasterners are benefitting from the recent hurricanes. They can buy "hurricane grade' McIntosh apples that were bruised by the storm winds at especially low prices. Fruit men say these apples are good-looking and delicious, with only a few bruises picked up by being knocked against branches.

Pears and oranges are rather high. Grapefruit is considered moderately priced, with supplies from Florida increasing. The prune season is about over and peach supplies are light, with the nearby season almost over in most areas.

Instant coffee prices came down at the wholesale level this week, so you can look for cheaper retail prices soon. Major producers cut prices about two cents on the two-ounce jar and 6¼ cents on the six-ounce. Decaffeinated instants also were lowered.

TECUMSEH—WARRIOR-STATESMAN

DISCOVERY OF PORTRAIT, BELIEVED TO BE AUTHENTIC, PUTS THE LIMELIGHT ON FAMOUS SHAWNEE CHIEFTAIN

By M. E. BYRNE
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper.

ANNOUNCEMENT by Chicago museum officials of what is believed to be the only actual portrait of Tecumseh in existence suddenly puts the spotlight again on a long-neglected great figure in American history.

The Shawnee chief, one of the most powerful Indian leaders and who is thought by some historians to have been the greatest of native chieftains in the long saga of strife between whites and redskins on the North American continent, for some 20 years stood like a bronze colossus across the westbound path of pioneers in the Middle West.

Tecumseh was as able a leader of men as Black Hawk and Crazy Horse, as clever a war strategist as Sitting Bull, all of whom came after him; and as eloquent an orator as the famous Pontiac, whom the Shawnee sachem is said to have attempted to emulate.

Tecumseh (also known in history variously as "Tecumtha" and "Tecumthe," was born near Springfield in Ohio about 1780. From boyhood on he was antagonistic to invading pioneers and when only 15 he was a member of marauding bands which attacked the caravans of settlers along the Ohio river.

THE YOUNG Indian's powers of statesmanship and eloquence were manifest so early that at the age of 20 he had already participated in peace conferences between the warring aborigines and settlers.

The fiery Shawnee warrior saw the opportunity of a showdown with the encroaching whites when treaties granting further cessions to the palefaces of Indian territory in what was then known as the North-West greatly aroused the native tribesmen of that area.

Tecumseh
A sketch, probably not authentic.

Possibility of another war between Great Britain and the American people also suggested that this might be the opportunity to strike.

Tecumseh visualized a vast Indian confederation of all the embattled tribes from Canada to the Gulf, united for the sole purpose of finally stopping the encroachment of always westward advancing pioneers.

With this purpose in view, utilizing Shawnee clans as a nucleus, Tecumseh and his brother Tenkswatawa (known to the whites by odd name of The Prophet) organized communes first in Ohio and then in Indiana, along the Tippecanoe and White rivers. The combined influence of the brothers on their compatriots was great, the Indians holding The Prophet, who was something of a mystic, in superstitious awe.

GEN. WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, then governor of Indiana and who later was to become President, tried to persuade the brothers from their purpose but failed.

The climax came when, with Tecumseh absent on a mission in the South, Harrison's forces clashed with the Indians, led by The Prophet, in the Battle of Tippecanoe, Nov. 7, 1822, inflicting such a defeat that the Indian confederacy all but collapsed and the influence of The Prophet was destroyed.

His plan for an all-Indian confederation all but wrecked, Tecumseh, disappointed but not discouraged, bided his time, which came when the War of 1812 broke out. He joined the British forces and was commissioned a brigadier general of that army.

Tecumseh fought with the British in skirmishes around Detroit and at the siege of Fort Meigs. It was at the Indian chief's urging that the British joined battle with forces under General Harrison on the banks of the Thames river in southern Ontario, Oct. 5, 1813.

The British were beaten and in this last futile battle Tecumseh was killed.

Summit County Left $1 Million

AKRON (AP)—A minister's daughter, who "never learned how to spend money," left $1 million to four trustees, telling them to spend the income on what they thought would be good for Summit County.

The woman was Mrs. Mable Ritchie, 74, who died last week.

Russell C. Parish, trust officer for the First National Bank of Akron, the bank, and two trustees to be named by the bank will spend the money left in her will.

Leaving the huge sum with practically no strings attached, Mrs. Ritchie said the income was to be spent on "such charitable, religious, educational, benevolent and philanthropic purposes and objects or institutions in Summit County as may be determined and directed" by the trustees.

All 59 Candidates Fail To Pass Exam

COLUMBUS (AP)—Puzzled by the failure of all 59 candidates to pass a state chiropractic examination last June, the Ohio Chiropractic Assn. yesterday asked for a restudy of the test papers.

The group told the Ohio State Medical Board the failing grades indicate schooling or "some inadequacies of treatment" of the candidates. The board was asked to determine if an error may have been made in grading.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slowdown of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Adelphi Ready For Big Festival To Celebrate Sesqui-Centennial

The community, one of the many that send big delegations to Circleville's Pumpkin Show, is going to stage a big festival of its own this Friday, Saturday, and Sunday to celebrate Adelphi's sesqui-centennial. Hundreds of visitors are expected to attend from all parts of Pickaway County, and many more from other neighboring sections.

Highlights of the program, which opens shortly after noon Friday, will include a contest for a sesquicentennial queen, an all-out parade, historical exhibits, elaborate antique show, midway attractions, rides, musical entertainment a community square dance and a gathering of political candidates running for local, district and state offices in November.

Don C. Patterson and Wayne F. Cryder are co-chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

ACTIVITIES will reach a climax Sunday when a giant basket-dinner outing and meeting will be held at the Adelphi Methodist Church, with all the churches of the village and Colerain Township teaming up their efforts to make it a success.

In addition to Patterson and Cryder, others who have had a leading role in planning the event include the following:

Mrs. Charles Pritchard, souvenir committee; Helen Hubbell, food committee; J. R. Mohoney, concessions; David Pontious, parades; Mrs. Charles Stocklin, historical exhibits; H. A. Strous, church affairs; James Archer, history booklet.

The program:

Friday — At 12:30 p. m., opening ceremonies of the sesqui-centennial. Afternoon visiting and a matinee for the children on the amusement rides. Queen parade and judging, 7 p. m. Stage talent, 8 p. m. Street dancing, round and square, 9 p. m.

Saturday — At 12:30 p. m., tractor pull in the first field west of the village, under the supervision of Eugene Mace, Williamsport. Parade, 4 p. m. Musical entertainment and introduction of candidates, 8 p. m. Dance, 9 p. m.

Sunday — At 9:30 a. m., Sunday School services, continuing through church service in the Adelphi Methodist Church. Community basket dinner, at noon, with the public invited. The dinner will be held in the Methodist Church basement and everyone is asked to bring a basket. Churcl program, 2 p. m.

Horse show, 3:30 p. m. Parade, 4 p. m. Church services in the Adelphi Community Church, 7:30 p. m.

Wage Hike Ends Brewery Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A strike that halted production of beer at two breweries has been settled with a compromise wage boost for engineers.

End of the three-day walkout, that idled approximately 1,100 men at the Pabst and Schlitz breweries in Los Angeles, was announced last night. The walkout also had spread to the Pabst plant in San Francisco.

Seventeen members of the AFL International Union of Operating Engineers walked out in Los Angeles, asking a wage boost of 27½ cents an hour. Their base pay was $2.72½ an hour. The compromise was for a boost of 17½ cents an hour.

Man Arrested For 213th Time

DETROIT (AP)—William Sweeney surprised no one Wednesday when he appeared in recorder's court on a drunkeness charge.

Recorder's Judge O. Z. Ide turned another page—the 13th in Sweeney's police record, noted it was th 213th time the 64-year-old Detroiter has appeared in court on similar charges, and sentenced him to another 45 days in jail.

Since 1920, Sweeney has spent 4,630 days—nearly 13 years—in jail.

DAYS GETTING LONGER

SOMEBODY IS always coming up with something like this. The general assumption has been that the days are getting shorter, but two scientists dispute this. The days are getting longer, they say.

Their contention is worded in scientific jargon and requires lengthy explanation. What the two scientists—Dr. Roger R. Revelle of the U. S. National Research Council and Dr. Walter H. Munk of the Scripps Institute of Oceanography, both of La Jolla, Calif.—have discovered is that the earth is turning steadily slower on its axis.

Thus, each year days are slightly longer than the year before. What causes this? Various theories are advanced, but the most plausible seem to be tidal friction and the torque exerted on the earth by the sun through atmospheric ties.

The professors, who announced their discovery at a 42-nation geophysics conference in Rome, had other discoveries to reveal. For instance, there is a "slip" amounting to about 75 feet a year between the earth's mantle and core. And there is an increasing tip in the earth's axis. This shift at the pole, which they estimate has averaged a centimeter a year for thousands of years, seems to be increasing. Some estimates put the tilt at the pole in recent times at 10 centimeters—four inches—a year.

But Revelle and Munk think lengthening of the 24-hour day may have the most important ultimate effect on gravity or ocean movements. This slowdown of the earth on its axis seems to be increasing, but has not become alarming. At present it is estimated at 3½ seconds per thousand years.

CAPTIVE TRADE

THE BRITISH, who periodically point scornfully to U. S. tariffs as a deterrent to world trade, continue to hide behind a barrier that imposes heavy restraints on the free global movement of goods. And word from London is that Britain plans no action to lift the wraps from sterling and make it freely convertible with dollars and other exchange.

Despite London's pious insistence on "trade, not aid," its policies continues to raise one of the chief obstacles to wider international commerce.

Lacking convertibility, the trading nations of the world are split into separate camps, obliged by the mutuality of the exchange medium to do business in a narrow sphere.

Brazilians who sell the British coffee cannot collect payments in dollars but must use their pounds to buy in the sterling bloc. Free convertibility would give them the freedom of choice to trade anywhere.

London, however, is loath to lose these captive customers. Convertibility might encourage export of U. S. goods and affect British manufacturing. The British want the best of two worlds and seem to be getting it.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Perhaps the most serious adjustment that the citizen has to make in the period of expanding government authority is his own relationship to the State. Most Americans, during nearly the whole of our history, were in little contact with their Federal Government beyond the Post Office. They paid no direct personal taxes; they were not investigated and examined and questioned; they rarely appeared in a Federal court.

During the past three or four decades, certainly since the Depression and World War I, the citizen has found himself more and more in contact with Federal authority. The power of government over the individual has increased and is increasing until the entire nation is conscious of the fact. Unquestionably what has brought discussion of this problem to a head have been the various investigations by Congress which have involved a statement or even a confession of belief, of partisanship and of association.

Professor David Spitz of Ohio State University has stated the problem as follows:

". . .there are those who categorically assert that it is the duty of the citizen always to obey the law, while others insist that a citizen owes his primary obligation to his own conscience. Since it is my general conviction, with Aristotle, that 'in all disputes upon government each party says something that is just,' I propose to consider here those principles which, in a democratic state at least, apear to me to render valid some claims to the right of civil disobedience."

In our representative system, the laws are made not by the fiat of a monarch or the whim of a dictator. They are made by the elected representatives of the people in Congress. If the people are convinced that the representatives are unsuitable, they can choose others in elections which are held every two years. The people are further protected by a written Constitution and by a judicial system which protects them from tyranny. If the people are alert, they can know what their Congress is doing.

To recognize any form of civil disobedience as proper would be to turn the nation into an anarchy.

Professor Spitz states the case further:

"When a citizen today is summoned by a Congressional investigating committee to answer questions he regards as morally reprehensible — questions, for example, that call upon him to state his political beliefs or to be an informer—he finds himself in a grave dilemma. If he answers the questions, he obeys the law but violates his moral code, and may, in addition, expose himself to certain non-legal consequences of his legal action—e.g., the loss of his job.

"If he refuses to answer on moral grounds, he satisfies his conscience but denies his obligation to the law, and thereby, if we are to believe certain conservative thinkers from Socrates' day to our own, endangers as well the very foundations of the social order. . ."

Of the 160,000,000 citizens of the United States, how many have been called before Congressional committees since the 1920's to state whether they are Communists, subversives or spies or have associated with such persons? It would be possible to compile the entire list and it would come to a few thousand, a tiny fraction of the whole people.

Skin Disease Can Cause An Ear Canal Infection

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

INFECTION of the ear canal of even one ear is not uncommon and poses a double problem. Most of such conditions start from infections that are due to some form of skin disease affecting the skin lining the canal.

Common diseases that affect the oil glands of the skin are seborrheic dermatitis, psoriasis, eczema, or some form of allergic skin disease. One of these skin diseases may be the underlying cause of the ear canal infection. It has been found that people with these infections have some evidence of a skin disturbance somewhere on their bodies.

The infection that occurs secondarily to the skin disorder in the ear canal is most often due to germs that invade the weakened skin. Therefore, the doctor has two separate disorders to cure. He must first clear up the disease that has invaded the ear canal and then cure the skin condition that is the underlying cause of the difficulty.

With an ear canal infection, the canal that leads into the middle ear from the outside is red and painful, and the person complains of itching. There may be also some discharge of pus from the infected ear.

Recently hydrocortisone was used along with the antibiotic drug, neomycin, to treat infected ear canals. The discharge from the ear as well as the redness and itching subsided as soon as treatment was initiated. Immediate treatment by the physician should be sought when such symptoms are first noticed.

CHAPTER TWENTY

MARSH came in pulling off wet gloves. His faded corduroy pants were soaked to the knees. "Snow's wet and heavy already. I'll have to change clothes. Be down in a minute."

"Will it block the road? Hadn't I better leave right away?" Penn asked uneasily looking at the whirling whiteness outside.

"Goodness no, it's not that urgent," dismissed Mrs. Nichols. "You just got here. Marsh must get some chains. He had some but they rusted out completely while he was in the army."

"There was a time last year," Penn worried, when my uncle couldn't get home from Washington for three days. The buses couldn't run."

"But not in November!" Mrs. Nichols was serenely unconcerned. "That was in dead of winter, I remember. I'd just had a pig killed and it froze solid, hanging in the woodhouse. It made wonderful sausage. Do have another cake, my dear."

When Marsh came down he had donned some old army pants and stuffed the legs into high, laced boots. He would not sit down though his mother insisted.

"I hate to break up a party, but I think we'd better go," he said. "I'll turn the car around, Miss Houk. I shovelled a clear space so you won't get your feet wet."

"But she will!" protested his mother. "Walk on your heels, my dear—and I do thank you for coming."

"I've had a lovely time." Penn pressed the thin, hot hand. "I'll come again if you invite me."

"Don't wait for that. You drive over soon. I get lonely, though I never let Marsh know it," she finished wistfully.

The old car roared, spun, skidded and finally floundered out to the road, now lying levelly white, unmarked, beautifully clean.

"If we can make the store, I'll borrow some chains," Marsh said, as he steered expertly through the deepening whiteness at slow speed. "My trouble is, I've never been able to say no to my mother. No matter how impractical a thing is that she wants, I have to try to get it. I hope I haven't got you into a bad spot, humoring her today."

"Too bad it had to spoil your mother's little party. I like her very much."

"She likes you. I suppose you know why?" he was blunt.

"Should I? Is there some special reason?"

"I'm the reason. She weaves her little plots very transparently. I'm a cynic, I'm antisocial, I need help and you're supposed to be the antidote for what ails me."

"So she prepared a table before me in the presence of mine enemy," quoted Penn, "and you're unhappy about it."

"No—not unhappy exactly."

"So I'm not entirely obnoxious? Thank you very much."

"I never said you were obnoxious. I merely said you were part of something I wanted to forget. Storey, all that. Anyway, it's futile. No place in my plans for girls. No money and no time. Mother connives and coaxes, but I have to be blind and deaf."

"And hard as stone."

"Not entirely. Stone hasn't any feelings. I still have enough left to feel—well, cheated, once in a while," he finished lamely.

"At any rate," said Penn aloofly, "put me down as merely liking your mother."

The motor roared suddenly, smoked and struggled, but the rear wheels spun ineffectually with no forward motion. Slowly the car slid sideways till a fender clunked against a post that upheld a snow-bonneted mail box.

"We seem," said Penn, "to be stuck."

He opened the door. "You can drive. I brought along a shovel. Slide over here and give her the gun when I tell you—but not till I tell you."

Digging and skidding, a few feet at a time, they reached the store as dusk fell. Wearily the car slid into a gas pump, gasped and died.

Marsh ran into the store, came out running. "The mailman has chains on his car. Mind if he runs you home?"

"Of course not, if the mailman doesn't mind," Penn said. But how will you get home?"

"Oh, I can walk. Good-night, Miss Houk. Sorry it turned out this way."

Penn was cold, tired and vaguely angry for no sensible reason, when she reached the Storey house. Quincy met her with obvious relief. "I was beginning to think I'd be snowbound out here alone all night. Well, did he succumb to your charms? He looks very military, even in those cowbarn clothes—also he looked definitely invulnerable."

"I didn't try any charming. Anyway, it would have been useless. He lets you know firmly and immediately that women have no place in his life."

"I've heard that line before. It's purely defensive, as you'd know if you weren't such an innocent where men are concerned. Penn—listen—" she flew to the library and turned the radio high. A voice came forth ominously.

". . . summoned to appear before the committee when it convenes tomorrow are Gen. Wadsworth and Senator Storey. The costs of this ordnance installation in the senator's state have already exceeded the appropriation and Congress wants to know the reason, since the plant is still not completed or ready for operation—"

"Turn it off!" cried Penn.

This was what they had dreaded, for years—all the Storeys. The knock had sounded on the door.

Quincy could not stand the house any longer.

Aunt Maude had come home late in a taxi the night before, through the deep snow. Come home with a face like doom, and resisting all efforts to comfort her. Elihu had not come. He could not, Maude explained, risk being marooned at home when the committee of the House convened in the morning.

"I can't bear it!" Maude wailed, "to be discredited—to be the object of suspicion—when all he did was try to do the best for everybody—for his state and everything!"

"They can't hurt him," Quincy argued now, without much conviction.

Penn said nothing at all, and her careful silence angered Quincy more than Aunt Maude's hysterics.

"You know he's entirely innocent," Quincy flared at her sister.

"We hope the committee will believe that," was all Penn had to say.

"I'm getting out of here. I've finally decided to go to town and get a job," Quincy stormed.

Penn looked up from brushing her hair. "If you take our car you'll leave Aunt Maude and me out here with no transportation," she reminded her.

"Then I'll ride the bus. I'm going to leave right now. I want to get an early start."

"An early start for what?"

"For my career. I'm having one, as I told you. Some kind of a job. And listen," she closed the door carefully, "don't mention it to Aunt Maude."

"Aunt Maude won't leave the radio—and Uncle Elihu has his own troubles," Penn reminded her. "What sort of a job can you get, anyway?"

"I can work in a store. Or model or something. When I do get to work I'm going to have my own place in town. Maybe I'll work in a tearoom."

"You couldn't afford a place in town on the pay you'd get in a tearoom. You'd have to share with some other girls and you'd hate that."

"I've got some prospects written down." Quincy dug a little book out of her purse. I've been copying them out of the papers ever since Aunt Maude talked about bringing Rufe out here. You'd better come along with me. You could find something, too, and we could get a little apartment."

Penn shook her head. "I promised Gil to stand by Uncle Elihu. Gil was worried about this situation when he left."

"It will be grisly here if they bring Rufe out, Penn. You couldn't stand it. Why didn't Gil stand by himself? He asked for that foul duty he got; he wasn't ordered to take it."

"Gil wasn't running away. He knew what he had to do."

"Wasn't he? I think he was. Running away from a lot of things. You may be blinded by family loyalty, but I'm not. Winnie was two-timing Gil, and he knew it. They weren't getting along."

Quincy put her little book back into her purse, snapped it shut, gave her hair a smoothing slap and pulled on a scrap of hat.

"Well, I'm off. If I'm not back by dark tell them to look behind the pots and pans in Woolworth's basement. I might be there."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON —Treasury figures emphasize the fearful costs of war to the American taxpayers, with the likelihood that they will rise instead of falling. Despite promised reductions, Moscow determines the size of our annual taxes and deficits, not Washington.

Since the founding of the nation in 1789, according to these staggering statistics, federal expenditures through June, 1953, totalled $888 billion. Military outlays, including aid to our allies, amounted to $506 billion or 57 per cent of the total.

For financing routine government operations, as well as payments on behalf of health, educational, agricultural and highway-building activities, the obligation was $306 billion, or 34 per cent. Interest on the public debt, which represents the national mortgage, was $76 billion, or nine per cent.

GRIM FIGURES—Thus, if it had not been for the gods of war and their satellites—the Kaiser, Hitler, Stalin and Malenkov, together with a few small fry such as Mussolini and the Tokyo war lords - the American people would be living in a virtual millennium.

Incidentally, the 57 per cent paid out for waging war from 1789 - 1953, inclusive, approximates the percentage devoted to the same grim purpose today. The current budget shows no improvement or prospects of any advance in this respect.

Another significant feature of this enlightening study is that the greatest part of this tragic bill has been incurred within the last 15 years, or since 1939. It is the price we have paid, in Woodrow Wilson's nonprophetic words "to make the world safe for democracy."

BURDEN — Federal expenditures from 1939 through June, 1953, came to $730 billion, or 82 per cent of the 1789-1953 total of the $888 billion. Military costs ate up $457 billion of this amount, or 63 per cent.

All other government outlays were $217 billion, or 30 per cent. Public debt charges were $55 billion or seven per cent.

The principal sources of federal revenue in these years have been the personal income and corporation taxes. Since adoption of the income tax amendment 40 years ago, they have collected $440 billion in government revenues, or more than two thirds of Uncle Sam's budget receipts since 1789.

And yet, this tremendous take, together with tariff levies and a long list of excise taxes, has not been enough to finance the high cost of living and fighting. We are about $270 billion "in the hole,' which is the amount of the public debt. It came to only $42 billion in June, 1940, just before the start of the World War II defense program.

COLD WAR—Still another discouraging factor is prsent in this unhappy reckoning. It is inherent in the alarming increases in the costs of war and in safeguarding ths national security.

After every other major conflict, there followed a long period of relative peace, balanced budgets and tax reductions. That occurred after the Wars of 1812-1814, 1861-1865 and 1917-1918.

Today, they approximate the same level that they did during the peak of the recent conflict. And, despite the "new look' in national defense, the debacles at Geneva and in Indochina indicate that they must go even higher, thanks to Molotov and Mao Tse-tung.

DAYS GETTING LONGER

SOMEBODY IS always coming up with something like this. The general assumption has been that the days are getting shorter, but two scientists dispute this. The days are getting longer, they say.

Their contention is worded in scientific jargon and requires lengthy explanation. What the two scientists—Dr. Roger R. Revelle of the U. S. National Research Council and Dr. Walter H. Munk of the Scripps Institute of Oceanography, both of La Jolla, Calif.—have discovered is that the earth is turning steadily slower on its axis.

Thus, each year days are slightly longer than the year before. What causes this? Various theories are advanced, but the most plausible seem to be tidal friction and the torque exerted on the earth by the sun through atmospheric ties.

The professors, who announced their discovery at a 42-nation geophysics conference in Rome, had other discoveries to reveal. For instance, there is a "slip" amounting to about 75 feet a year between the earth's mantle and core. And there is an increasing tip in the earth's axis. This shift at the pole, which they estimate has averaged a centimeter a year for thousands of years, seems to be increasing. Some estimates put the tilt at the pole in recent times at 10 centimeters—four inches—a year.

But Revelle and Munk think lengthening of the 24-hour day may have the most important ultimate effect on gravity or ocean movements. This slowdown of the earth on its axis seems to be increasing, but has not become alarming. At present it is estimated at 3½ seconds per thousand years.

CAPTIVE TRADE

THE BRITISH, who periodically point scornfully to U. S. tariffs as a deterrent to world trade, continue to hide behind a barrier that imposes heavy restraints on the free global movement of goods. And word from London is that Britain plans no action to lift the wraps from sterling and make it freely convertible with dollars and other exchange.

Despite London's pious insistence on "trade, not aid," its policies continues to raise one of the chief obstacles to wider international commerce.

Lacking convertibility, the trading nations of the world are split into separate camps, obliged by the mutuality of the exchange medium to do business in a narrow sphere.

Brazilians who sell the British coffee cannot collect payments in dollars but must use their pounds to buy in the sterling bloc. Free convertibility would give them the freedom of choice to trade anywhere.

London, however, is loath to lose these captive customers. Convertibility might encourage export of U. S. goods and affect British manufacturing. The British want the best of two worlds and seem to be getting it.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Perhaps the most serious adjustment that the citizen has to make in the period of expanding government authority is his own relationship to the State. Most Americans, during nearly the whole of our history, were in little contact with their Federal Government beyond the Post Office. They paid no direct personal taxes; they were not investigated and examined and questioned; they rarely appeared in a Federal court.

During the past three or four decades, certainly since the Depression and World War I, the citizen has found himself more and more in contact with Federal authority. The power of government over the individual has increased and is increasing until the entire nation is conscious of the fact. Unquestionably what has brought discussion of this problem to a head have been the various investigations by Congress which have involved a statement or even a confession of belief, of partisanship and of association.

Professor David Spitz of Ohio State University has stated the problem as follows: ". . .there are those who categorically assert that it is the duty of the citizen always to obey the law, while others insist that a citizen owes his primary obligation to his own conscience. Since it is my general conviction, with Aristotle, that 'in all disputes upon government each party says something that is just,' I propose to consider here those principles which, in a democratic state at least, apear to me to render valid some claims to the right of civil disobedience."

In our representative system, the laws are made not by the fiat of a monarch or the whim of a dictator. They are made by the elected representatives of the people in Congress. If the people are convinced that the representatives are unsuitable, they can choose others in elections which are held every two years. The people are further protected by a written Constitution and by a judicial system which protects them from tyranny. If the people are alert, they can know what their Congress is doing.

To recognize any form of civil disobedience as proper would be to turn the nation into an anarchy.

Professor Spitz states the case further: "When a citizen today is summoned by a Congressional investigating committee to answer questions he regards as morally reprehensible — questions, for example, that call upon him to state his political beliefs or to be an informer—he finds himself in a grave dilemma. If he answers the questions, he obeys the law but violates his moral code, and may, in addition, expose himself to certain non-legal consequences of his legal action—e.g., the loss of his job.

"If he refuses to answer on moral grounds, he satisfies his conscience but denies his obligation to the law, and thereby, if we are to believe certain conservative thinkers from Socrates' day to our own, endangers as well the very foundations of the social order. . ."

Of the 160,000,000 citizens of the United States, how many have been called before Congressional committees since the 1920's to state whether they are Communists, subversives or spies or have associated with such persons? It would be possible to compile the entire list and it would come to a few thousand, a tiny fraction of the whole people.

"Not entirely. Stone hasn't any feelings. I still have enough left to feel—well, cheated, once in a while," he finished lamely.

"At any rate," said Penn aloofly, "put me down as merely liking your mother."

The motor roared suddenly, smoked and struggled, but the rear wheels spun ineffectually with no forward motion. Slowly the car slid sideways till a fender clunked against a post that upheld a snow-bonneted mail box.

"We seem," said Penn, "to be stuck."

He opened the door. "You can drive. I brought along a shovel. Slide over here and give her the gun when I tell you—but not till I tell you."

Digging and skidding, a few feet at a time, they reached the store as dusk fell. Wearily the car slid into a gas pump, gasped and died.

Marsh ran into the store, came out running. "The mailman has chains on his car. Mind if he runs you home?"

"Of course not, if the mailman doesn't mind," Penn said. But how will you get home?"

"Oh, I can walk. Good-night, Miss Houk. Sorry it turned out this way."

Penn was cold, tired and vaguely angry for no sensible reason, when she reached the Storey house. Quincy met her with obvious relief. "I was beginning to think I'd be snowbound out here alone all night. Well, did he succumb to your charms? He looks very military, even in those cowbarn clothes—also he looked definitely invulnerable."

"I didn't try any charming. Anyway, it would have been useless. He lets you know firmly and immediately that women have no place in his life."

"I've heard that line before. It's purely defensive, as you'd know if you weren't such an innocent where men are concerned. Penn—listen—" she flew to the library and turned the radio high. A voice came forth ominously.

". . . summoned to appear before the committee when it convenes tomorrow are Gen. Wadsworth and Senator Storey. The costs of this ordnance installation in the senator's state have already exceeded the appropriation and Congress wants to know the reason, since the plant is still not completed or ready for operation—"

"Turn it off!" cried Penn.

This was what they had dreaded, for years—all the Storeys. The knock had sounded on the door.

Quincy could not stand the house any longer.

Aunt Maude had come home late in a taxi the night before, through the deep snow. Come home with a face like doom, and resisting all efforts to comfort her. Elihu had not come. He could not. Maude explained, risk being marooned at home when the committee of the House convened in the morning.

"I can't bear it!" Maude wailed, "to be discredited—to be the object of suspicion—when all he did was try to do the best for everybody—for his state and everything!"

"They can't hurt him," Quincy argued now, without much conviction.

Penn said nothing at all, and her careful silence angered Quincy more than Aunt Maude's hysterics.

"You know he's entirely innocent," Quincy flared at her sister.

"We hope the committee will believe that," was all Penn had to say.

"I'm getting out of here. I've finally decided to go to town and get a job," Quincy stormed.

Penn looked up from brushing her hair. "If you take our car you'll leave Aunt Maude and me out here with no transportation," she reminded her.

"Then I'll ride the bus. I'm going to leave right now. I want to get an early start."

"An early start for what?"

"For my career. I'm having one, as I told you. Some kind of a job. And listen," she closed the door carefully, "don't mention it to Aunt Maude."

"Aunt Maude won't leave the radio—and Uncle Elihu has his own troubles," Penn reminded her. "What sort of a job can you get, anyway?"

"I can work in a store. Or model or something. When I do get to work I'm going to have my own place in town. Maybe I'll work in a tearoom."

"You couldn't afford a place in town on the pay you'd get in a tearoom. You'd have to share with some other girls and you'd hate that."

"I've got some prospects written down." Quincy dug a little book out of her purse. I've been copying them out of the papers ever since Aunt Maude talked about bringing Rufe out here. You'd better come along with me. You could find something, too, and we could get a little apartment."

"It will be grisly here if they bring Rufe out, Penn. You couldn't stand it. Why didn't Gil stand by himself? He asked for that foul duty he got; he wasn't ordered to take it."

"Gil wasn't running away. He knew what he had to do."

"Wasn't he? I think he was. Running away from a lot of things. You may be blinded by family loyalty, but I'm not. Winnie was two-timing Gil, and he knew it. They weren't getting along."

"Well, I'm off. If I'm not back by dark tell them to look behind the pots and pans in Woolworth's basement. I might be there."

1—Born in Budapest, Hungary, March 17, 1874, this man was the seventh rabbi in direct succession in his family. He sat in a cardinal's chair in his Gothic mullion-windowed study in New York's Jewish Institute of Religion building and composed sermons on what he would do if he were a Christian. He often did battle with Mayor Jimmy Walker, and was a frequent caller in the offices of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt. His fellow rabbis regarded him with a mixture of disapproval, envy and alarm. He often chuckled at the fact that he was born on St. Patrick's day. His parents took him to New York when he was a year old. He died April 19, 1949.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON —Treasury figures emphasize the fearful costs of war to the American taxpayers, with the likelihood that they will rise instead of falling. Despite promised reductions, Moscow determines the size of our annual taxes and deficits, not Washington.

Since the founding of the nation in 1789, according to these staggering statistics, federal expenditures through June, 1953, totalled $888 billion. Military outlays, including aid to our allies, amounted to $506 billion or 57 per cent of the total.

For financing routine government operations, as well as payments on behalf of health, educational, agricultural and highway-building activities, the obligation was $306 billion, or 34 per cent. Interest on the public debt, which represents the national mortgage, was $76 billion, or nine per cent.

GRIM FIGURES—Thus, if it had not been for the gods of war and their satellites—the Kaiser, Hitler, Stalin and Malenkov, together with a few small fry such as Mussolini and the Tokyo war lords - the American people would be living in a virtual millennium.

Incidentally, the 57 per cent paid out for waging war from 1789 - 1953, inclusive, approximates the percentage devoted to the same grim purpose today. The current budget shows no improvement or prospects of any advance in this respect.

Another significant feature of this enlightening study is that the greatest part of this tragic bill has been incurred within the last 15 years, or since 1939. It is the price we have paid, in Woodrow Wilson's nonprophetic words "to make the world safe for democracy."

BURDEN — Federal expenditures from 1939 through June, 1953, came to $730 billion, or 82 per cent of the 1789-1953 total of the $888 billion. Military costs ate up $457 billion of this amount, or 63 per cent.

All other government outlays were $217 billion, or 30 per cent. Public debt charges were $55 billion or seven per cent.

The principal sources of federal revenue in these years have been the personal income and corporation taxes. Since adoption of the income tax amendment 40 years ago, they have collected $440 billion in government revenues, or more than two thirds of Uncle Sam's budget receipts since 1789.

And yet, this tremendous take, together with tariff levies and a long list of excise taxes, has not been enough to finance the high cost of living and fighting. We are about $270 billion "in the hole,' which is the amount of the public debt. It came to only $42 billion in June, 1940, just before the start of the World War II defense program.

COLD WAR—Still another discouraging factor is prsent in this unhappy reckoning. It is inherent in the alarming increases in the costs of war and in safeguarding ths national security.

After every other major conflict, there followed a long period of relative peace, balanced budgets and tax reductions. That occurred after the Wars of 1812-1814, 1861-1865 and 1917-1918.

Today, they approximate the same level that they did during the peak of the recent conflict. And, despite the "new look' in national defense, the debacles at Geneva and in Indochina indicate that they must go even higher, thanks to Molotov and Mao Tse-tung.

Floribunda Garden Club Plans Exhibt

The club, organized in February, 1953, includes members from Orient, Harrisburg, Pleasant Corners and Grove City. Since the membership of the group is small, the officers are asking the support of the surrounding communities to make this showing a success.

Entries are open to any amateur wishing to exhibit and should be in place by 1:30 p. m. Saturday. Judging, which is to begin at 2:30 p. m., will be open to the public. Cash awards will be presented the first three places in all classes and an award also will be presented for best of show. Marjorie Eakin of Grove City is in charge of the exhibit. She may be reached by calling Fr. 6-3437, Grove City.

Specimen exhibits will include: Dahlias, collection of 3 blooms; chrysanthemums, 2 sprays of the same variety; asters, collection of 3 blooms; flowering house plant; roses, a single bloom of any color; and a display of 5 different materials, suitable for dried arrangements.

Theme of arrangements is to be "The Big Game". Classes include: Scrimmage, an arrangement using any material, for those who have never won a blue ribbon in a flower show; Kickoff, an arrangement for a coffee table, using any material. Huddle, a mass arrangement suggesting the harvest or "Time of Plenty"; 50 Yard Line, a line arrangement showing motion; Gal in the Grandstand, a corsage for a favorite girl.

Touchdown, a vertical arrangement using dried and fresh materials, and After the Game, an arrangement for a buffet supper including fruit, foliage and-or flowers. This arrangement is for blue ribbon winners only.

Harvest Ball Proceeds Will Benefit Youth

The youth of Pickaway County will benefit from the proceeds of the "Harvest Ball" being planned by Circleville Junior Woman's Club for Saturday in the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Profit from the dance will be added to the club's Youth Fund from which the group helps in supporting the Youth Canteen. It also provides the money for a scholarship which is given each year as an award to an outstanding girl high school graduate who will use it for training as a nurse or teacher.

The youth Fund is used for special projects within the city and county schools as well as other needs for assistance to young people which arise from time to time.

Music for dancing at the "Harvest Ball" will be provided by Jimmy Franck and his orchestra, a Columbus group which has been well received in two previous appearances locally. The decorating committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Griffith, is planning a harvest theme, including traditional pumpkins and corn fodder.

Other members of the Junior Woman's Club Ball committee are Mrs. Sterling Poling, general chairman; Mrs. Walter P. Yamarick, orchestra chairman; Mrs. William Rickey, ticket chairman; Mrs. Ray Friend, chairman for tables and chairs; and Mrs. Louis M. Wuest, piano and bandstand chairman.

It is expected that the "Harvest Ball" along with the many parties which are being planned before and after the dance will be remembered as an outstanding social event of the fall season. Mrs. Richard Penn is president of Junior Woman's Club.

LOSES 28 POUNDS COMPLEXION CLEARER

"I am 42 years of age, and since taking Rennel Concentrate have lost 28 lbs." writes Nellie L. Johnson, R. F. D. No. 1, Bellville, Ohio. "Before starting with Rennel I had tried several other reducing preparations, but without success. Thanks to Rennel I now look better and feel better, and my complexion is so much clearer and smoother than before."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just rotate the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Don't be switched to another product, insist on and be sure to get genuine Rennel.

Floribunda Garden Club Plans Exhibt

The club, organized in February, 1953, includes members from Orient, Harrisburg, Pleasant Corners and Grove City. Since the membership of the group is small, the officers are asking the support of the surrounding communities to make this showing a success.

Entries are open to any amateur wishing to exhibit and should be in place by 1:30 p. m. Saturday. Judging, which is to begin at 2:30 p. m., will be open to the public. Cash awards will be presented the first three places in all classes and an award also will be presented for best of show. Marjorie Eakin of Grove City is in charge of the exhibit. She may be reached by calling Fr. 6-3437, Grove City.

Specimen exhibits will include: Dahlias, collection of 3 blooms; chrysanthemums, 2 sprays of the same variety; asters, collection of 3 blooms; flowering house plant; roses, a single bloom of any color; and a display of 5 different materials, suitable for dried arrangements.

Theme of arrangements is to be "The Big Game". Classes include: Scrimmage, an arrangement using any material, for those who have never won a blue ribbon in a flower show; Kickoff, an arrangement for a coffee table, using any material.

Huddle, a mass arrangement suggesting the harvest or "Time of Plenty"; 50 Yard Line, a line arrangement showing motion; Gal in the Grandstand, a corsage for a favorite girl.

Touchdown, a vertical arrangement using dried and fresh materials, and After the Game, an arrangement for a buffet supper including fruit, foliage and-or flowers. This arrangement is for blue ribbon winners only.

Harvest Ball Proceeds Will Benefit Youth

The youth of Pickaway County will benefit from the proceeds of the "Harvest Ball" being planned by Circleville Junior Woman's Club for Saturday in the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Profit from the dance will be added to the club's Youth Fund from which the group helps in supporting the Youth Canteen. It also provides the money for a scholarship which is given each year as an award to an outstanding girl high school graduate who will use it for training as a nurse or teacher.

The youth Fund is used for special projects within the city and county schools as well as other needs for assistance to young people which arise from time to time.

Music for dancing at the "Harvest Ball" will be provided by Jimmy Franck and his orchestra, a Columbus group which has been well received in two previous appearances locally. The decorating committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Griffith, is planning a harvest theme, including traditional pumpkins and corn fodder.

Other members of the Junior Woman's Club Ball committee are Mrs. Sterling Poling, general chairman; Mrs Walter P. Yamarick, orchestra chairman; Mrs. William Rickey, ticket chairman; Mrs. Ray Friend, chairman for tables and chairs; and Mrs. Louis M. Wuest, piano and bandstand chairman.

It is expected that the "Harvest Ball" along with the many parties which are being planned before and after the dance will be remembered as an outstanding social event of the fall season. Mrs. Richard Penn is president of Junior Woman's Club.

LOSES 28 POUNDS COMPLEXION CLEARER

"I am 42 years of age, and since taking Rennel Concentrate have lost 28 lbs." writes Nellie L. Johnson, R. F. D. No. 1, Bellville, Ohio. "Before starting with Rennel I had tried several other reducing preparations, but without success. Thanks to Rennel I now look better and feel better, and my complexion is so much clearer and smoother than before."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Don't be switched to another product, insist on and be sure to get genuine Rennel.

Sorry we missed seeing you yesterday. Normally we'd have heard you tapping on the office door, even though your tentacles don't make as much noise as human knuckles. But the television set was going full blast, you see. None of us wanted to miss the World Series opener.

The World Series—maybe we'd better tell you about that, since you're down here studying human behavior. The World Series is—well, call it a sort of nervous breakdown that we have at this time of year.

It's a serious ailment. It just about brings the United States to a standstill. People forget about politics, about world affairs. Nobody argues about Joe McCarthy. Joe McCarthy, we ought to explain, used to manage the New York Yankees. They took part in the World Series, too, in happier days.

Fortunately, perhaps, this temporary insanity of ours doesn't last long. It usually runs its course in a week or less. Then everybody goes back to work, except sometimes the manager of the losing team.

The World Series is a contest, or series of contests, between two baseball teams. Baseball is a children's game played with a ball, a bat and a set of bases. The rules say there must be four bases although some teams, such as Pittsburgh, seldom need more than one or two.

This year the contest is between the New York Giants of the National League and the Cleveland Indians of the American League. The Giants are not especially big men and the Indians are not really Indians. For that matter the Polo Grounds, where the series opened, is not noted for Polo.

The Giants are managed by Leo Durocher, Laraine Day, Tallulah Bankhead and a New York restaurant keeper named Toots Shor. The Indians are managed by Al Lopez and about half the population of Cuyahoga County, Ohio.

Now the basis of baseball—and remember, there are four bases—is a contest between the pitcher, who throws the ball, and the batters, who try to hit it.

If the batter does hit the ball, he runs around the bases. Unless, that is, he is saving his strength for a television commercial after the game, in which case another player runs for him. The other player is known as a pinch-runner. We never have been able to figure out why.

If the batter does not hit the ball, he throws down his bat and glares at the umpire. Umpires are mostly old ball players with failing eyesight. Old umpires never die. They just lose their seeing eye dogs.

Ball players play ball because they love the sport, though sometimes for the sake of their families they accept token salaries. Some of these token salaries rank right along with the take-home pay of the president of the United States. This is only fair. We haven't had a president since Theodore Roosevelt who could hit a ball out of the infield.

Besides riches, ball players aspire to two things: getting elected to the baseball hall of fame, and marrying Marilyn Monroe.

Baseball is the great American game, but during the season millions of Americans can take it or leave it alone. Come series time, though, everybody's a fan—and an expert. People who normally would as soon kiss their mother-in-law as shell out $2 for a ticket are packed right in there around the TV screen screaming.

Why? You tell us, man from Mars. We're a warm-hearted, clever, childlike people. But we never claimed that we made sense.

City Annexation Problems Studied

Harry R. Hall, executive vice president of the Dayton, Ohio, Chamber of Commerce, said the symptoms of this modern municipal malady are growing pains "accompanied by shortness of breathing space—extensive encircling urbanization outside city limits, choking off further city growth.'

He referred to the fringe areas as "separate incorporation sores around the outer surfaces" of cities.

White Tipped For Rail Post

Girls, Your Table Settings Reflect Your Personality

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The way you set the table is a key to your personality, outlook and way of life, says Helen Chamberlin of Seattle, a natural-born hostess who has made a career out of it.

"For instance," says this vibrant, sparkling westerner, "there's the traditional gal who clings to grandmother's damask and Haviland china, even though she has no maid to serve a formal dinner. There's the slipshod one who takes the course of least resistance, and slops the flod on the table in chipped dime-store dishes. There's the fussy type who uses a real lace tablecloth and priceless crystal, and then worries throughout the meal for fear one of her guests is going to spill or break something. In each case the table setting is a dead giveaway."

Mrs. Chamberlin aired her views while in New York preparing a series of 32 table settings for the modern living exposition being started by the nation's lumber dealers at the Kingsbridge Armory. And there's nothing timid, slipshod or traditional about Mrs. Chamberlin's table designs. She's as likely to use burlap as damask for table mats, she loves contemporary American dishes and unusual flower arrangements.

"There's a whole new trend in table settings, brought about by our new casual way of living," she explains "Few people have servants any more, and this has made formal dinners impractical. The buffet and the semi-buffet have replaced the formal sit-down dinner, with a different set of china for each course, in most homes. And with it has come a new conception of using informal dishes, linen and silver."

Mrs. Chamberlin came upon her career somewhat by accident. A former newspaperwoman with a knack for entertaining, she was asked by an Oregon newspaper to design some table settings for a home show sponsored by the paper. Invitations from other organizations followed, and all of a sudden she found herself in business.

Now she spends a great part of each year traveling from home show to home show, in practically every state, accompanied by her unique table settings carefully packed in separate trunks, each complete down to the last teaspoon.

She represents only American manufacturers, and uses china, glassware, silver and linen made in the United States. Says she:

"Some of the best design in the world is being done right here in the good old U. S. A. For generations we've looked to Paris for fashions, to England for bone china, to Italy for venetian glass and so on, until we've developed a national inferiority complex. It's true that European skills have been in many cases American designers took up where the Europeans left off. And American china and other tableware is designed specifically for the American way of life."

Among the table settings Mrs. Chamberlin designed for the New York show is one entitled "Merry Christmas Morning," in which she uses a small Christmas tree with a green felt "skirt" glittering with sequins as a centerpiece for a round table set with a combination of white milk glass and ruby pressed glass.

A children's table has a yellow burlap cloth trimmed in rickrack, and there's a cloth of taffeta and stain for a wedding table. For a football buffet she uses a runner of rosy beige drapery fabric down the middle of a long table, uses dinnerware all in tones of brown, puts corsages in college colors on top of each napkin instead of a flower decoration in the middle of the table. A big ceramic duck holds wine punch, a smaller duck is used for condiments.

"Your table should be as personal as your wardrobe," syas Mrs. Chamberlin," and your supply of china should be just as ersatile.'

6,500 Cleveland Homes Opened Up

CLEVELAND (AP)—There will be plenty of sleeping space in Cleveland for World Series visitors, the executive vice president of the Cleveland Convention and Visitors' Bureau says.

Edward C. Brennan said more than 6,500 householders had offered rooms for rent in private homes and added "We now have more offers than people to fill the rooms."

Hotels have been sold out but clerks will direct visitors to private homes.

PUCO Schedules Hearing For B&O

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has set Nov. 9 for a public hearing on the application of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to cut off two passenger trains between Cincinnati and Toledo.

Mayors of cities through which the trains pass will be notified of the hearing hour.

Savings Bonds Up By August Figures

Ohioans invested 22.1 per cent more in Series E and H Savings Bonds during August than they did in the same month last year, with gains reported from 68 of the state's 88 counties, Judge William D. Radcliff, Pickaway County Savings Bond Chairman, revealed. Sales of the two bonds in Pickaway County totaled $16,913, compared to August, 1953, purchases of $24,143.

The increase last month followed a gain of 22.9 percent in Ohio for July and it was pointed out that the two consecutive monthly increases should help the state in its campaign to meet the 1954 goal. Percent of goal attained through August was 65.9, or about one percent below the eight-month required sales level. Total dollar sales of E. and H Bonds last month was $31,340,847, compared to $25,661,033 invested during August last year.

The national increases for last month was 20 percent and total sales for the eight-month period was 13 percent above last year. Nearly 63 percent of the 1954 national sales goal of $5.3 billions has been realized.

Two of the five Ohio areas are above the goal for the eight-month period. The Northeast Area had sold 76.7 per cent and the Northwest Area 70.4 per cent, through August. Five of the eight metropolitan Ohio counties are above their goal, with Summit showing 83.1; Lucas 76.4; Cuyahoga 74.9; Mahoning 73 1 and Montgomery 71.7 per cent.

Arizona 76 Ranch Owner Dead At 74

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The funeral of Mrs. Claire Noelke Webb, widow of W. T Webb, prominent Arizona Democrat and operator of the famed 76 Ranch near Bonita, Ariz., will be held tomorrow.

Mrs. Webb died in a Tucson hospital Monday after a long illness. She was 74.

After the death of her husband in 1939 she took over control and operation of his extensive cattle business. She built up the 76 Ranch, about 50 miles northeast of Tuscon, until it became one of the best known cattle and dude ranches in the state.

A cancer can be very small but it needs to be cut out or burned out by x-ray. The smallness does not mean that drastic measures are not indicated. It is so with this alien body in our midst. The noise and excitement is no measure of the size ot the group; it is a measure of the peril to the nation.

I was recently told that every professor is scared to death. I do not believe it. Most professors and instructors know full well that no investigation will involve them in anything. Most of them have not related themselves in any manner to espionage and subversion. The few who have ought not to be in a position to mold the minds of our children. This country always had radicals on its faculties and they were generally t he most popular instructors. But they were not spies and they did not serve a foreign master.

That is the essential difference. The man is not a free agent because he has bound himself to another government is not free to express the truth. Such a man may resort ot civil disobedience but the country will not back him.

Railroads, Trucks Join In Project

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Two old combatants, the railroads and the inter-city trucking industry, face a happy future after their recent "marriage of convenience.'

That marriage, says Eugene F. Ryan, came about with successful experiments in moving motor carrier trailers on rail cars.

The president of Rail-Trailer Co., Chicago, told the Associated Traffic Clubs of America both trucking and rail industries have a real need for each other, despite their apparent prosperity.

Social Security Increases Will Come In Early October Checks

Following is the second in a series of articles on the Social Security Act and how the new amendments voted by Congress will affect many residents of Pickaway County. The series is being written by the field agent who handles all claims from this district.

By ROSE C. FORQUER
Social Security
Field Representative

The person who said, "tomorrow never comes," has been proved wrong by the social security program. For today there are about six and one-half million men, women, and children who are living in the "tomorrow" which either they or their retired or deceased breadwinner HELPED TO EARN.

They are the pepote over 65, and their dependents and the dependents or survivors of deceased workers who have become entitled to social security benefits.

The credits which these people or their loved ones earned in work under social security have entitled them to the right of receiving their retirement or survivors benefit check each month. I mentioned these beneficiaries in the first article when I said that the new law would enable them to receive INCREASED old-age and survivors insurance payments.

This increase has been written into the amended Social Security Act to help bring benefits in line with current earning levels and living costs. All of the people who are going to receive higher benefits will want to know right away how the increase comes and how much it will be.

THE FIRST thing that should be pointed out is that this increase is AUTOMATIC for persons already receiving checks. Beneficiaries do not have to write letters, forms, or applications for the increase. If you are expecting a September social security check, it will be in the early October mail as usual. And the amount of that check will be higher than your last check.

How much will the increase be? The answer to this question will not be the same for everyone. In the case of retired worker, the increase will be at least five dollars. And there will be proportionate increases for the dependents or survivors who are receiving their monthly social security payments now.

The MINIMUM monthly benefit amount will be increased from $25 under the old law to $30 for the retired worker and the MAXIMUM benefit will be increased from $85 to $98.50. The maximum family benefit which was $168.75 will be $200. No minimum benefit amount will be less than $30 for a retired worker or an only survivor.

The social security law says that the total family benefits cannot exceed 80 percent of the insured worker's average monthly wage. But under the 1954 amendments this provision cannot reduce the family benefits below $50, or one and a half times the worker's primary insurance amount, whichever amount is larger.

Here is a table for insured workers who are receiving RETIREMENT benefits. If the column of figures on the left is the present amount of your benefit, the column on the right will be the new amount on the September check, which will reach you early in October.

Old Amount	Increased Amount
$25.00	$30.00
30.00	35.00
40.00	45.00
50.00	55.00
60.00	65.10
70.00	78.50
80.10	91.90
85.00	98.50

There are other provisions in the new law which may increase your benefit amount if you are receiving old-age and survivors payments. Space does not permit me to go into detail here about any of them. But if you are a retired worker, you will want to follow my later articles. You may learn about some other ways in which the new law will be advantageous to you.

Eshelman Attending School In Michigan

John Eshelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eshelman, of 484 N. Pickaway St. is one of 340 boys from 16 states and South America now attending Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

Cranbrook, a boarding day school for boys from the 7th through the 12th grades, is one of six non-profit institutions founded as a cultural center 20 miles north of Detroit by the late George G. Booth and his wife Ellen Scripps Booth.

Duelers Suffer Only Financially

Police Chief Carl Newland said Mack Drivers and James White fired several shots at each other—less than four paces apart.

Both escaped bodily harm, but were fined $10 and costs for being drunk.

Red Radio Says Civilians Suffer

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist bombardment of Amoy has resulted in many casualties among the civilian population, the Communist radio in Fukien reported today.

The sky over Quemoy was filled with heavy smoke last week after direct hits on ammunition dumps and dockyards, the radio claimed.

THIS WOMAN is testifying before the special congressional committee on Soviet aggression at a hearing in New York. The hood is to conceal her identity to avoid reprisals on relatives still behind the Iron Curtain. She said anti-Semetic purges are continuing in Russia. (International)

Chiang's Patrols Now Only Routine

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist air and sea patrols along the China coast opposite Formosa have become such a daily routine that communiques have been discontinued, an official spokesman said today.

There were sporadic artillery exchanges between defenders of Quemoy, Nationalist island base seven miles offshore, and Red batteries on the mainland, the spokesman said.

Rhee Says Korea Can't Fight Alone

ASHLAND (AP) — Korea cannot fight to victory alone, President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea said in a letter made public yesterday.

The letter, sent to the Ashland Times-Gazette, said in part:

"Our warnings in 1950 also were discounted and ignored and, after the American troops departed, the Communists did attack." He said the Republic still lacks adequate means to defend itself and the Communists know this. Rhee, a recent visitor to the United States said his trip was gratifying because it reaffirmed his faith in the American people.

Circleville To Be Represented At State Municipal Conference

Several Circleville officials and business men hoped to attend at least some of the sessions of the Third Annual Ohio Municipal Conference, which opened in Columbus Wednesday. The program continues through Friday.

Following through on the suggestions advanced by local trade and civic leaders, city council recently voted to ask membership for Circleville in the Ohio Municipal League, sponsoring organization for the annual meeting now under way. The League works in the interests of all state municipalities and makes many services and valuable data available to members.

Membership for Circleville is expected to be of special value here at this time in view of the community's long-range growth and development hopes.

City Councilman Richard Penn and Paul Brown planned to attend the conference sessions in Columbus Thursday. Penn said several others hoped to make similar arrangements.

IT WAS believed the conference this year will be the largest gathering of municipal officers ever held in the state. More than 400 mayors, managers, councilmen and other city spokesmen were expected to take part.

Among several outstanding speakers listed on the program is Charles S. Rhyne, general counsel of the National Institute of Law Officers, who will address the banquet session Thursday.

Among top subjects marked for discussion during the three-day meeting are: Ohio's publicity utility laws, the statewide water problem, and those involved in annexation programs.

On Friday, the city and village officials will have an opportunity to see the state's defense forces in action. Lockbourne Air Force Base will welcome them for a tour of the giant installation.

Talks at the air base will deal with Civil Defense planning and the defense role of the Strategic Air Command. Later, the Air Force will demonstrate an assisted take-off with a B-47 jet bomber, and also a "scramble" operation, such as would be used during an actual attack to get defending fighters into the air.

Gasoline Fire Killer Unnamed

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A farmer has died of burns in Phoenixville hospital without identifying the man he said drenched him with gasoline.

Semon Bojeck, a Ukrainian who came to the United States in 1949, had told authorities he would name his assailant only when certain he would die.

But even though told yesterday that the end was near, he kept his lips sealed.

Bojeck, with some help from interpreters, told state police he was alone in his home last Saturday when a man entered and threw a container of gasoline at him.

A passing motorist found the farmer unconscious.

Social Security Increases Will Come In Early October Checks

Following is the second in a series of articles on the Social Security Act and how the new amendments voted by Congress will affect many residents of Pickaway County. The series is being written by the field agent who handles all claims from this district.

By ROSE C. FORQUER
Social Security
Field Representative

The person who said, "tomorrow never comes," has been proved wrong by the social security program. For today there are about six and one-half million men, women, and children who are living in the "tomorrow" which either they or their retired or deceased breadwinner HELPED TO EARN.

They are the people over 65, and their dependents and the dependents or survivors of deceased workers who have become entitled to social security benefits.

The credits which these people or their loved ones earned in work under social security have entitled them to the right of receiving their retirement or survivors benefit check each month. I mentioned these beneficiaries in the first article when I said that the new law would enable them to receive INCREASED old-age and survivors insurance payments.

This increase has been written into the amended Social Security Act to help bring benefits in line with current earning levels and living costs. All of the people who are going to receive higher benefits will want to know right away how the increase comes and how much it will be.

THE FIRST thing that should be pointed out is that this increase is AUTOMATIC for persons already receiving checks. Beneficiaries do not have to write letters, forms, or applications for the increase. If you are expecting a September social security check, it will be in the early October mail as usual. And the amount of that check will be higher than your last check.

How much will the increase be? The answer to this question will not be the same for everyone. In the case of retired worker, the increase will be at least five dollars. And there will be proportionate increases for the dependents or survivors who are receiving their monthly social security payments now.

The MINIMUM monthly benefit amount will be increased from $25 under the old law to $30 for the retired worker and the MAXIMUM benefit will be increased from $85 to $98.50. The maximum family benefit which was $168.75 will be $200. No minimum benefit amount will be less than $30 for a retired worker or an only survivor.

The social security law says that the total family benefits cannot exceed 80 percent of the insured worker's average monthly wage. But under the 1954 amendments this provision cannot reduce the family benefits below $50, or one and a half times the worker's primary insurance amount, whichever amount is larger.

Here is a table for insured workers who are receiving RETIREMENT benefits. If the column of figures on the left is the present amount of your benefit, the column on the right will be the new amount on the September check, which will reach you early in October.

Old Amount	Increased Amount
$25.00	$30.00
30.00	35.00
40.00	45.00
50.00	55.00
60.00	65.10
70.00	78.50
80.10	91.90
85.00	98.50

There are other provisions in the new law which may increase your benefit amount if you are receiving old-age and survivors payments. Space does not permit me to go into detail here about any of them. But if you are a retired worker, you will want to follow my later articles. You may learn about some other ways in which the new law will be advantageous to you.

Eshelman Attending School In Michigan

John Eshelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eshelman, of 484 N. Pickaway St. is one of 340 boys from 16 states and South America now attending Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

Cranbrook, a boarding day school for boys from the 7th through the 12th grades, is one of six non-profit institutions founded as a cultural center 20 miles north of Detroit by the late George G. Booth and his wife Ellen Scripps Booth.

Duelers Suffer Only Financially

Police Chief Carl Newland said Mack Drivers and James White fired several shots at each other—less than four paces apart.

Both escaped bodily harm, but were fined $10 and costs for being drunk.

Red Radio Says Civilians Suffer

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist bombardment of Amoy has resulted in many casualties among the civilian population, the Communist radio in Fukien reported today.

The sky over Quemoy was filled with heavy smoke last week after direct hits on ammunition dumps and dockyards, the radio claimed.

THIS WOMAN is testifying before the special congressional committee on Soviet aggression at a hearing in New York. The hood is to conceal her identity to avoid reprisals on relatives still behind the Iron Curtain. She said anti-Semetic purges are continuing in Russia. (International)

Chiang's Patrols Now Only Routine

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist air and sea patrols along the China coast opposite Formosa have become such a daily routine that communiques have been discontinued, an official spokesman said today.

There were sporadic artillery exchanges between defenders of Quemoy, Nationalist island base seven miles offshore, and Red batteries on the mainland, the spokesman said.

Rhee Says Korea Can't Fight Alone

ASHLAND (AP) — Korea cannot fight to victory alone, President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea said in a letter made public yesterday.

The letter, sent to the Ashland Times-Gazette, said in part:

"Our warnings in 1950 also were discounted and ignored and, after the American troops departed, the Communists did attack." He said the Republic still lacks adequate means to defend itself and the Communists know this. Rhee, a recent visitor to the United States said his trip was gratifying because it reaffirmed his faith in the American people.

Guns On Cops Invite Trouble, Britain's Top Detective Claims

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Fabian, Britain's most celebrated detective since Sherlock Holmes, feels it might be a good idea if American cops quit carrying guns.

"The display of firearms is to be depreciated," mildly observed the ex-detective superintendent of Scotland Yard. "It incites the criminal to carry one, too.

In his 28-year service with "the Yard" Fabian solved a dozen murders, helped send nine men to the gallows, more than 800 to prison.

"I never carried a gun in my life," he said, "although twice I had to take guns away from men who seemed to want to use them on me. The only weapon I ever needed was my hands."

An expert in ju-jitsu, Fabian began his career as an ordinary constable. He still feels the best way to cut down crime is to put more cops out on beats, swinging a nightstick.

"But I don't go along with this gun-carrying," he said. "And it's not because I'm soft either.

"I'm not vicious, but I do think the pendulum has swung too far the wrong way in our treatment of criminals. We pamper both young delinquents and hardened criminals too much."

Fabian believes Britain made a mistake in doing away with the cat o' nine tails in 1948. He is convinced that 10 lashes on a criminal's back with "the cat," or 20 strokes with birch switches on his bared bottom teaches him an unforgettable lesson.

"The physical punishment is not as bad as the degradation," he said. "When you birch a criminal, you treat him like a naughty schoolboy. He never lives down the shame of it, not even with his own class."

Since retiring from Scotland Yard in 1949, Fabian has turned out two best-selling books on his experiences, "Fabian of the Yard," and "London After Dark." He also writes a weekly column on crime for a British newspaper chain and recently completed 39 half-hour TV films, based on his own cases.

Fabian, now in his 50s, rarely employed a disguise himself. He knew thousands of British criminals by sight and wanted them to know him by sight, too. Some he helped reform. Many became—after business hours—his friends.

"If they wanted a helping hand I'd give it to them," he said.

In 1949 after Fabian risked his life to disarm a bomb planted by Irish extremists, 50 of London's leading crooks struck off a medallion in his honor, and threw him a surprise party. Later he was summoned to Buckingham Palace and presented with the King's medal for gallantry.

"I don't mind an honest-to-goodness crook myself. But there is too much glamorization of criminals. They don't look glamorous in a cell.

"It has been my experience that most killers do have gray eyes. People with brown eyes are more warm-natured.

"Crime really doesn't pay. A thief doesn't get very much for what he steals, only about one tenth of the wholesale value of the goods.

"Criminals who work alone are usually the most difficult to catch. It is generally easier to catch a murder than a robber.

"In detective work patience and attention to detail are everything.

"The most common mistake of criminals is that they go to the well too often.

"I'm a great believer in women as detectives. They are often better than men in solving the disguises of women criminals. It is hard for one woman to fool another woman.

"Women detectives are sometimes more easily discouraged than men, but they'll take more chances. And they are better at shadowing suspects than men.

"Against a woman criminal they are relentless."

McCarthy Censure Hearing Cost Hit

CINCINNATI (AP) — Protests against spending "$100,000 or more" for a special session of Congress to hear the Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) censure case have been forwarded to Washington by the Consumer Conference of Greater Cincinnati.

The protests were addressed to Vice President Nixon and Senate Floor Leader William F. Knowland (R-Calif).

Mrs. Dennis E. Jackson, president of the Consumer Conference, said the objections were approved by 300 members. She said:

"Without taking sides in the controversy, it was felt that the matter could wait for the Senate's regular session in January."

FRANK MORRIS, of Butler, Pa., who will be 100 years old on Oct. 19, gives his wife, Olive, 82, a sample of a dish he intends to prepare for his birthday party. Mrs. Morris will, of course, bake the cake. The occasion will also mark their 60th wedding anniversary. (International)

Gotham Bank Bid Given Ohio OK

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Sinking Fund Commission has accepted the bid of the Union Securities Corp., New York City, for purchase of $30 million in highway construction bonds.

The firms bid, best of those received, was 1.38 per cent and a premium of $287,970, making net cost to the state of $2,366,216.54. The issue is the first of a half billion dollars authorized by voters last November.

Designated as paying agents were the National City Bank of New York, the Ohio National Bank, the Northern Trust Co. of Chicago and the Union Bank of Commerce, Cleveland.

Since retiring from Scotland Yard in 1949, Fabian has turned out two best-selling books on his experiences, "Fabian of the Yard," and "London After Dark." He also writes a weekly column on crime for a British newspaper chain and recently completed 39 half-hour TV films, based on his own cases.

Fabian, now in his 50s, rarely employed a disguise himself. He knew thousands of British criminals by sight and wanted them to know him by sight, too. Some he helped reform. Many became—after business hours—his friends.

"If they wanted a helping hand I'd give it to them," he said.

In 1949 after Fabian risked his life to disarm a bomb planted by Irish extremists, 50 of London's leading crooks struck off a medallion in his honor, and threw him a surprise party. Later he was summoned to Buckingham Palace and presented with the King's medal for gallantry.

"I don't mind an honest-to-goodness crook myself. But there is too much glamorization of criminals. They don't look glamorous in a cell.

"It has been my experience that most killers do have gray eyes. People with brown eyes are more warm-natured.

"Crime really doesn't pay. A thief doesn't get very much for what he steals, only about one tenth of the wholesale value of the goods.

"Criminals who work alone are usually the most difficult to catch. It is generally easier to catch a murder than a robber.

"In detective work patience and attention to detail are everything.

"The most common mistake of criminals is that they go to the well too often.

"I'm a great believer in women as detectives. They are often better than men in solving the disguises of women criminals. It is hard for one woman to fool another woman.

"Women detectives are sometimes more easily discouraged than men, but they'll take more chances. And they are better at shadowing suspects than men.

"Against a woman criminal they are relentless."

McCarthy Censure Hearing Cost Hit

CINCINNATI (AP) — Protests against spending "$100,000 or more" for a special session of Congress to hear the Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) censure case have been forwarded to Washington by the Consumer Conference of Greater Cincinnati.

The protests were addressed to Vice President Nixon and Senate Floor Leader William F. Knowland (R-Calif).

Mrs. Dennis E. Jackson, president of the Consumer Conference, said the objections were approved by 300 members. She said:

"Without taking sides in the controversy, it was felt that the matter could wait for the Senate's regular session in January."

Massachusetts Expecting Hot Election Fight

Neither Party Ready To Issue Prediction Of Confident Victory

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of several stories by roving Associated Press reporters analyzing the congressional campaign in key states.)

By RELMAN MORIN

BOSTON (AP)—A tough election battle is building up in Massachusetts and at this point it looks so close that neither party is making any confident victory predictions.

Even though they interpret the Maine outcome as a sign of a "national tide" running their way, Massachusetts Democrats have been cautious in their claims for Nov. 2. Republicans, while discounting Democratic gains in Maine, are equally wary.

Maine Democrats elected a governor for the first time in 20 years. They also cut deep into traditionally wide Republican margins in congressional races.

Chief interest in Massachusetts centers in the races for the governorship and a seat in the U.S. Senate. Both now are held by Republicans. The GOP has an 8-6 edge in the House of Representatives. A Democratic leader would go no further than to say his party will make it 7-7 this fall.

In the Senate race, the veteran Leverett Saltonstall is opposed by a former Democratic congressman, Foster Furcolo, who has risen rapidly in Bay State politics since he came home from World War II. Furcolo is regarded highly by his party.

"Salty," as they call the senator in his home state, hit the trail early. Campaigning through the small towns, he often simply stood on the sidewalk, chatting with the citizens. He talked mainly of his nearly 10-year Senate record and the record of the Eisenhower administration.

He has a dry, down-east humor and a homespun manner that appeals to Massachusetts voters. In a previous campaign, he was accused of being "two-faced." Speaking later from thhe same platform in South Boston where this was said, Saltonstall soberly asked:

"If I had two faces, do you suppose I'd be using this one?"

Frucolo, is 43, a lawyer who served one term in Congress and then was elected state treasurer in 1952—a year when Massachusetts went Republican. He is the son of an Italian immigrant who came to the United States unable to read or speak English and became a respected doctor in Springfield.

Furcolo worked his way through Yale and the Yale Law School and still had time for the baseball and boxing teams. He resigned from a draft board after Pearl Harbor, enlisted, and went through some of the worst campaigns in the Pacific.

Furcolo is married and has five children. He is personable, a good speaker and a hard worker.

Early in the campaign, he challenged Saltonstall to debate many issues, "including labor, foreign policy, and Sen. McCarthy." He said the people should know about Saltonstall's "failure to assume assume jurisdiction in Sen. McCarthy's case as chairman of the armed forces committee in the issue of McCarthy versus the Army."

Saltonstall did not reply.

Republican ov. Christian A. Herter was unopposed for renomination. His Democratic challenger is Robert F. Murphy, a former Malden newspaperman and a veteran of the state legislature.

Herter, who—like Saltonstall — comes from old line New England stock, was elected governor in 1952 by 14,456 votes out of 2,300,000.

Murphy won the Democratic nomination in his first try at a statewide office. He had the backing of the state convention.

A rugged, energetic man, he has been campaigning since April. He travelled by helicopter, once covered 300 miles and appeared in 13 towns in a single day, says "I lived on a hot dog that day."

Both Murphy and Herter list econcomic conditions in the state as the top issue of their campaigns.

River Barge Fire Loss Said $35,000

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Ashland Oil & Refining Co. officials have estimated at $35,000 the loss from the Ohio River barge fire here Tuesday. Three barges containing gasoline and diesel oil were damaged.

John Fox, transportation manager for the company, said the fire could have started from static electricity, sparks or friction.

The fires on the barges containing gasoline were quickly extinguished, but the one carrying diesel oil burned nearly four hours.

Guesspert Sees Another Win For Irish '11'

Predictions Running .836 Correct; Ohio State Due For Defeat

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—The World Series game won't be the only athletic event Saturday afternoon. There will be a hundred or more college football games. But if you are determined to watch the series, here are the football winners in advance.

Last week's predictions had 39 winners and 11 losers. That brought the season's figures to 66 winners, 15 losers for an .836 average.

The forecasts:

UCLA over Maryland: Last year's No. 1 team travels to the coast Friday might to meet the team which could develop into 1954's strongest.

Baylor over Miami: A Friday night encounter.

California over Ohio State: Paul Larsens pin-point passing to be decisive.

Illinois over Stanford: The TV viewers will find it difficult to keep J. C. Caroline in focus, so will the Stanford defenders.

The others, without comment:

Friday night

Saturday

East: Minnesota over Pittsburgh, Fordham over Rutgers, Boston College over Temple, Yale over Brown, Princeton over Columbia, Boston University over Connecticut, Navy over Dartmouth, Colgate over Holy Cross, Harvard over Massachusetts, Penn over William & Mary.

South: Alabama over Vanderbilt, Davidson over the Citadel, Clemson over Virginia Tech, Auburn over Florida, Georgia over Texas A & M, Kentucky over LSU, Mississippi State over Arkansas State, Richmond over Virginia Military, South Carolina over West Virginia, North Carolina over Tulane, Virginia over George Washington, North Carolina State over Wake Forest.

Midwest: Michigan over Army, Nebraska over Iowa State, Cincinnati over Tulsa, Indiana over College of Pacific, Colorado over Kansas, Kansas State over Missouri, Marquette over Miami of Ohio.

Far West: Arizona State over Texas Western, Colorado A & M over Brigham Young, Wyoming over Denver, Oregon over Utah, Washington over Oregon State, New Mexico over Utah State.

AFTER MANY years of trying to win the U.S. tennis championship, Vic Seixas, 31-year-old Philadelphian, came through with a sparkling performance to down Rex Hartwig of Australia in the final and cop the title. Cleveland Not Discouraged After Losing Series Opener

NEW YORK (AP)—From bat boy Harold Klug up to General Manager Hank Greenberg, the Cleveland Indians aren't too discouraged over losing yesterday's World Series opener to the New York Giants.

Young Klug, 16-year-old East Cleveland Shaw High School student who is missing classes to hand bats to his favorites, declared today:

"Yesterday's game was a tough one to lose, but Early Wynn will beat those Giants today and we'll go home all even. The Giants can't be that lucky two days in a row."

Greenberg, a bit more consrevative, opined: "That was a good game yesterday, although we lost 5-2, and that was a great catch by Willie Mays to wreck us. But we're still a good ball club and we'll get back in there today. I think we'll win the series."

The Cleveland general manager went on to observe that "Cleveland lost the first game of the 1948 World Series and came back to win it, and the Indians were a game behind in the 1920 series and won that one, too. We're behind right now, but we don't intend to lose this one, either."

Al Lopez, the even-tempered Cleveland skipper, also had a hunch his Redskins would come bounding back into contention.

"There are six games to go, and after today we get a crack at these fellows on our own diamond," Lopez said. "We do pretty good at home, and there will be no blooper home runs out there where the fences are a little farther from the plate."

Lopez was referring, of course, to the three - run homer which Jim (Dusty) Rhodes, tenth - inning pinch hitter, blooped into the 270-foot right field stands to win yesterday's opener. Rhodes hit Bob Lemon's first pitch to him to end it all.

Lopez, who had engaged in a flock of strategical moves with Giant skipper Leo Durocher in the Indian half of the eighth, said of the wind-blown "Chinese" homer:

"I thought it was just a routine out when it left the bat. And Dave Pope said he thought he had it all the way, but the wind caught it and pulled it into the stand by inches, about five feet from the foul line. There's no defense against home runs like that."

Lopez, disappointed but not down hearted by the opening game loss, summed it up with a laconic:

"They beat us with the longest out (the 450 - foot fly by Vic Wertz) and the shortest home run (Rhodes' 270 - footer) of the season. In our park, Wertz would have had the home run, and Rhodes a loud out. But it was a home run, no matter how you look at it, and they won the first game. But we'll be back — don't forget that."

Andrews Upsets Turner In Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—Only minutes after young Al Andrews flattened Gil Turner, a 3-1 favorite, last night telephones jangled in the office of the International Boxing Club.

Officials of the far-flung IBC were trying to get the monkey wrench out of their match-making machinery. They found themselves with Andrews on their hands instead of Turner.

The winner of that one was to get a title shot next spring, adding up to a possible rematch of Turner and champion Kid Gavilan.

Syracuse Near Playoff Crown

MONTREAL (AP)—The Syracuse Chiefs can clinch the International League's Governor's Cup tonight and move into the Junior World Series against the Louisville Colonels of the American Association with a victory over the defending champion Montreal Royals.

The Chiefs hold a lead of three games to two.

Manager Skeeter Newsome's Chiefs could have wrapped it up last night but ran into third baseman Bobby Wilson and pitcher Joe Black. Wilson hit three home runs, one with the bases loaded, and Black hurled a two-hitter as the Royals blanked the Chiefs, 7-0.

Guesspert Sees Another Win For Irish '11'

Predictions Running .836 Correct; Ohio State Due For Defeat

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—The World Series game won't be the only athletic event Saturday afternoon. There will be a hundred or more college football games. But if you are determined to watch the series, here are the football winners in advance.

Last week's predictions had 39 winners and 11 losers. That brought the season's figures to 66 winners, 15 losers for an .836 average.

The forecasts:

Notre Dame over Purdue:The Irish enthusiasm of last week to carry over for this tussle with Purdue's rugged sophomores.

UCLA over Maryland: Last year's No. 1 team travels to the coast Friday might to meet the team which could develop into 1954's strongest.

Duke over Tennessee: When in doubt, always pick the home team.

Baylor over Miami: A Friday night encounter.

Illinois over Stanford: The TV viewers will find it difficult to keep J. C. Caroline in focus, so will the Stanford defenders.

The others, without comment:

Friday night

Furman over Presbyterian, Wichita over Drake.

Saturday

East: Minnesota over Pittsburgh, Fordham over Rutgers, Boston College over Temple, Yale over Brown, Princeton over Columbia, Boston University over Connecticut, Navy over Dartmouth, Colgate over Holy Cross, Harvard over Massachusetts, Penn over William & Mary.

South: Alabama over Vanderbilt, Davidson over the Citadel, Clemson over Virginia Tech, Auburn over Florida, Georgia over Texas A & M, Kentucky over LSU, Missippi State over Arkansas State, Richmond over Virginia Military, South Carolina over West Virginia, North Carolina over Tulane, Virginia over George Washington, North Carolina State over Wake Forest.

Midwest: Michigan over Army, Nebraska over Iowa State, Cincinnati over Tulsa, Indiana over College of Pacific, Colorado over Kansas, Kansas State over Missouri, Marquette over Miami of Ohio.

Far West: Arizona State over Texas Western, Colorado A & M over Brigham Young, Wyoming over Denver, Oregon over Utah, Washington over Oregon State, New Mexico over Utah State.

NOTICE OF BOND SALE

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners, Court House, Circleville, Ohio, until twelve o'clock noon on October 13, 1954, for the purchase of the first of a series of Real Estate Reappraisal Bonds of said County in the amount of $28,000.00, dated September 1, 1954, and bearing interest at the rate of 3 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on March 1 and September 1, the first interest being payable on the first day of March, 1955, and issued for the purpose of providing funds to defray the cost and expense of reassessing all real property in Pickaway County for the period 1955 to 1961. Said bonds are issued under authority of the laws of Ohio, Sections 133.01 to 133.48, and particularly Section 133.26 of the Ohio Revised Code, and pursuant to a Resolution of the Board of County Commissioners passed August 16, 1954, as amended August 30, 1954.

Said Bonds are of the denomination of $1,000.00 each, numbered from 1 to 28, inclusive, and mature $5,000.00 on the 1st day of November in each of the years 1956, 1957 1959 and 1961, and $4,000.00 on the 1st day of November in each of the years 1958 and 1960.

Said bonds and interest shall be payable at the office of the County Treasurer of Pickaway County, Circleville, Ohio, upon presentation and surrender of bonds and interest coupons as they respectively mature.

Any bidder may present a bid or bids for said bonds upon a different rate of interest than herein specified, provided, however, that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-quarter of one percent or multiples thereof. Said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder at the time and place above mentioned at not less than par and accrued interest.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check drawn in favor of the Board of County Commissioners of Pickaway County, Ohio, in the sum of $300.00.

The proceedings authorizing the issuance of the bonds have been prepared under the supervision of Messrs. Bricker, Marburger, Evatt & Barton, 50 West Broad Street, Columbus 15, Ohio, whose opinion approving the validity of the bonds will be furnished to the successful bidder without cost. Usual closing proofs, including non-litigation certificate will be furnished the successful bidder.

The Board of County Commissioners of said county reserves the privilege to reject any and all bids. No conditional bids will be received.

Dated — September 13, 1954.

Board of County Commissioners,
Pickaway County Ohio,
Fred L. Tipton, Clerk

1953's Top-Priced Yearlings Do OK In This Year's Races

COLUMBUS—The old saw which says that high-priced horses never do any good at the races is being disproved this year in harness racing. American Way and Butch Hanover, the two highest priced yearlings of 1953 are doing alright on the Grand Circuit this season.

American Way, who topped the list at $35,000 last October, is the fastest two-year-old pacer of the year with a record of 2.01.4 for the mile distance. Butch Hanover, the number two yearling at $25,000 and the tops among trotters, is the joint holder of the season's record for juvenile trotters with a mark of 2.03.4.

Actually, Butch Hanover has done a little better than American Way since Butch already has won two major stakes while American Way has been blanked in the stake column although three times a heat winner.

Butch Hanover, owned by Sol Camp of Shafter, Calif., and trained by Joe OBrien, won the $10,387 American-National Stake at Sedalia, Mo. (the first start of his career) and the $23,589 Castleton Farm Stake at Du Quoin, Ill.

In addition, he was a heat winner in the $28,041 Horseman Stake at Indianapolis and in the $14,986 Reading Fair Futurity at Reading, Pa. Those four starts are the only ones he has made.

American Way, owned by the Allwood Stable of Far Hills, N. J., won a heat in the $24,279 McMahon Memorial in 2.01.4 at Du Quoin, won a heat in the $29,444 Fox Stake at Indianapolis, and two heats for driver Joe Lighthill, but not the race, in the $10,000 Ohio Standardbred Futurity at Delaware.

Neither American Way nor Butch Hanover has quite earned out his purchase price to date, but with rich races still on tap at the Lexington Trots and at other scattered points after that, both probably will do so before the curtain rings down.

1953's Top-Priced Yearlings Do OK In This Year's Races

COLUMBUS—The old saw which says that high-priced horses never do any good at the races is being disproved this year in harness racing. American Way and Butch Hanover, the two highest priced yearlings of 1953 are doing alright on the Grand Circuit this season.

American Way, who topped the list at $35,000 last October, is the fastest two-year-old pacer of the year with a record of 2.01.4 for the mile distance. Butch Hanover, the number two yearling at $25,000 and the tops among trotters, is the joint holder of the season's record for juvenile trotters with a mark of 2.03.4.

Actually, Butch Hanover has done a little better than American Way since Butch already has won two major stakes while American Way has been blanked in the stake column although three times a heat winner.

Butch Hanover, owned by Sol Camp of Shafter, Calif., and trained by Joe OBrien, won the $10,387 American-National Stake at Sedalia, Mo. (the first start of his career) and the $23,589 Castleton Farm Stake at Du Quoin, Ill.

In addition, he was a heat winner in the $28,041 Horseman Stake at Indianapolis and in the $14,986 Reading Fair Futurity at Reading, Pa. Those four starts are the only ones he has made.

American Way, owned by the Allwood Stable of Far Hills, N. J., won a heat in the $24,279 McMahon Memorial in 2.01.4 at Du Quoin, won a heat in the $29,444 Fox Stake at Indianapolis, and two heats for driver Joe Lighthill, but not the race, in the $10,000 Ohio Standardbred Futurity at Delaware.

Neither American Way nor Butch Hanover has quite earned out his purchase price to date, but with rich races still on tap at the Lexington Trots and at other scattered points after that, both probably will do so before the curtain rings down.

Kid Gavilan needed 7 years, 11 months and 88 fights to win the welterweight fight title.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners, Court House, Circleville, Ohio, until twelve o'clock noon on October 13, 1954, for the purchase of the first of a series of Real Estate Reappraisal Bonds of said County in the amount of $28,000.00, dated September 1, 1954, and bearing interest at the rate of 3 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on March 1 and September 1, the first interest being payable on the first day of March, 1955, and issued for the purpose of providing funds to defray the cost and expense of reassessing all real property in Pickaway County for the period 1955 to 1961. Said bonds are issued under authority of the laws of Ohio, Sections 133.01 to 135.48, and particularly Section 133.26 of the Ohio Revised Code, and pursuant to a Resolution of the Board of County Commissioners passed August 16, 1954, as amended August 30, 1954.

Said Bonds are of the denomination of $1,000.00 each, numbered from 1 to 28, inclusive, and mature $5,000.00 on the 1st day of November in each of the years 1956, 1957 1959 and 1961, and $4,000.00 on the 1st day of November in each of the years 1958 and 1960.

Said bonds and interest shall be payable at the office of the County Treasurer of Pickaway County, Circleville, Ohio, upon presentation and surrender of bonds and interest coupons as they respectively mature.

Any bidder may present a bid or bids for said bonds upon a different rate of interest than herein specified, provided, however, that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-quarter of one percent or multiples thereof. Said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder at the time and place above mentioned at not less than par and accrued interest.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check drawn in favor of the Board of County Commissioners of Pickaway County, Ohio, in the sum of $300.00.

The proceedings authorizing the issuance of the bonds have been prepared under the supervision of Messrs. Bricker, Marburger, Evatt & Barton, 50 West Broad Street, Columbus 15, Ohio, whose opinion approving the validity of the bonds will be furnished to the successful bidder without cost. Usual closing proofs, including non-litigation certificate will be furnished the successful bidder.

The Board of County Commissioners of said county reserves the privilege to reject any and all bids. No conditional bids will be received.

Dated — September 13, 1954.

CHS End Jones Sidelined For Several Weeks

A Circleville High School football player, injured in the game against Linden-McKinley in Columbus, will be out of action for at least several weeks.

Ralph Jones, Tiger end, is scheduled to return to University Hospital in Columbus for a check-up in about a week, according to a report from the high school.

Jones suffered a painful injury to his lower right side and was taken to the hospital following the game when the pains became severe. X-rays failed to show any broken bones and the injury was not definitely determined.

In addition, Jones is suffering a mild case of amnesia. He apparently can remember everything only up to a week ago.

HE IS NOT being allowed to engage in any contact work in football, officials remarked.

The Tigers are scheduled to meet Wilmington Friday night here. The game is the first home tilt for CHS and they loom as odds-on favorites in view of Wilmington's record.

The Hurricanes have not been able to score in two games while 51 points have been scored against them. On the other hand, the Tigers, although having lost their first two games, have been able to score 19 points.

Borton Expects To Play For OSU

COLUMBUS (AP) — Quarterback John Borton may be in the Ohio State football lineup against California here Saturday, says Coach Woody Hayes. Borton, kept out of the pileups with an injured finger, worked out this week.

Fullback Don Vicic, out earlier with an injured knee, said he felt "fine" after returning to contact work. Vicic also is scheduled for action Saturday.

There are 50 players on the North Carolina State College football roster. Only 14 hail from the state.

Series Talk Covers Mays' Catch, Rhodes' Big Homer

NEW YORK (AP)—Say, hey, now, was that the greatest catch of his young career that Willie Mays made on Vic Wertz in the New York Giants' 5-2 opening World Series victory yesterday?

"Naw," said the happy-go-lucky Willie in the dressing room. "I had the ball all the way. There was nothing too hard about it. I've made better catches. But what about my hitting? I wasn't any help up there at the plate."

He was referring, of course, to Dusty Rhodes' 10th inning, two-on-base home run.

"I didn't tire so much. It was just that I didn't have real sharp control of my curve ball. I couldn't hit the outside corner against the lefthanders. That's what got me in trouble.

"And that Wertz. The way he's hitting today you couldn't get him out. I guess we don't know him as well as some of the other Cleveland hitters."

Maglie probably will be ready to start again Sunday or Monday, although manager Leo Durocher wouldn't say just when.

"He was my big guy in a jam and that's what he's going to be for the rest of the series," enthused Durocher. "Dusty did just what I've come to expect him to do. Bring him up in an important place and bang—you're back in the clubhouse."

Said Rhodes:

"The biggest hit of my life."

"That was the hardest ball I hit all year," he said.

Manager Al Lopez went even further.

"It looked to me like the longest ball our club has hit all year. There wouldn't have been a tenth inning if Mays hadn't caught it.

"Well," he sighed, "we were beaten by the longest out and the shortest homer of the year."

Losing pitcher Bob Lemon, the victim of Rhodes' "blast," was unhappy even thinking about it.

"I was worried all through the game that something like that would happen ", he said. "If they had to beat me with a homer, I wish Al Dark's hit had gone into the stands in the ninth. That one was hit good, but I guess the wind kept it out."

Fremont Grid Coach Raps State Ratings

Mackey, whose sophomore-laden club edged strong Lorain, 14-13, last Friday with a second half comeback, took dim view of Associated Press ratings this week. He especially challenged the No. 1 rating of Massillon and the ranking of Mansfield above his own team. Fremont was rated eighth.

"These polls don't make sense," Mackey said. "Massillon hasn't played anyone yet and still they're in first place, while Warren wins two tough games and beats Canton McKinley and is in second place.

"And Mansfield — that's just a name that the writers must vote for without thinking. Some of those clubs like to pick on a bunch of cripples, then go around like real tough guys."

"Why, this Lorain team we played last week could run over some of the teams in the top ten. Too many teams are picked on reputation. They play a few tough games, sure, but look at the schedules of Massillon, Mansfield and some of the others and you will see several soft spots. It's too bad we don't get a crack at them more often. I'd be glad to play them any time it can be arranged."

Mackey's type of criticism has been voiced before by other coaches and by Ohio sports writers. It was pointed out that generally the AP ratings are the composite view of less than two dozen newspaper and radio reporters in the state.

Auto Race Season Ends At Lancaster

The announcement came from promoter Charlie Macioci who listed the cause for the closing as "unforseen circumstances".

He added that he wished to thank everyone for their loyal support of the past season.

Big Race Readied At Chillicothe Oval

Season championship races will be run Saturday night at Chillicothe Speedway.

According to the promoters of the oval, this will be the biggest race of the year. There will be three features with time trials at 7 p. m. and the first race starting at 8 p. m.

CHS End Jones Sidelined For Several Weeks

A Circleville High School football player, injured in the game against Linden-McKinley in Columbus, will be out of action for at least several weeks.

Ralph Jones, Tiger end, is scheduled to return to University Hospital in Columbus for a check-up in about a week, according to a report from the high school.

Jones suffered a painful injury to his lower right side and was taken to the hospital following the game when the pains became severe. X-rays failed to show any broken bones and the injury was not definitely determined.

In addition, Jones is suffering a mild case of amnesia. He apparently can remember everything only up to a week ago.

HE IS NOT being allowed to engage in any contact work in football, officials remarked.

The Tigers are scheduled to meet Wilmington Friday night here. The game is the first home tilt for CHS and they loom as odds-on favorites in view of Wilmington's record.

The Hurricanes have not been able to score in two games while 51 points have been scored against them. On the other hand, the Tigers, although having lost their first two games, have been able to score 19 points.

Borton Expects To Play For OSU

COLUMBUS (AP) — Quarterback John Borton may be in the Ohio State football lineup against California here Saturday, says Coach Woody Hayes. Borton, kept out of the pileups with an injured finger, worked out this week.

Fullback Don Vicic, out earlier with an injured knee, said he felt "fine" after returning to contact work. Vicic also is scheduled for action Saturday.

There are 50 players on the North Carolina State College football roster. Only 14 hail from the state.

Series Talk Covers Mays' Catch, Rhodes' Big Homer

NEW YORK (AP)—Say, hey, now, was that the greatest catch of his young career that Willie Mays made on Vic Wertz in the New York Giants' 5-2 opening World Series victory yesterday?

"Naw," said the happy-go-lucky Willie in the dressing room. "I had the ball all the way. There was nothing too hard about it. I've made better catches. But what about my hitting? I wasn't any help up there at the plate."

Over in the corner, Johnny Antonelli, the Giants' pitching nominee today, was in deep conference with starting pitcher Sal Maglie.

"Just a regular game for us," shrugged Johnny. "We won the pennant with finishes like this all season long."

He was referring, of course, to Dusty Rhodes' 10th inning, two-on-base home run.

"I didn't tire so much. It was just that I didn't have real sharp control of my curve ball. I couldn't hit the outside corner against the lefthanders. That's what got me in trouble.

"And that Wertz. The way he's hitting today you couldn't get him out. I guess we don't know him as well as some of the other Cleveland hitters."

Maglie probably will be ready to start again Sunday or Monday, although manager Leo Durocher wouldn't say just when.

Durocher added he wasn't so sure now that he'd start Rueben Gomez in tomorrow's third game in Cleveland. Don Liddle might get the call.

Leo was all talk, though, about Rhodes' game-winning home run.

"He was my big guy in a jam and that's what he's going to be for the rest of the series," enthused Durocher. "Dusty did just what I've come to expect him to do. Bring him up in an important place and bang—you're back in the clubhouse."

Said Rhodes:

"The biggest hit of my life."

"That was the hardest ball I hit all year," he said.

Manager Al Lopez went even further.

"It looked to me like the longest ball our club has hit all year. There wouldn't have been a tenth inning if Mays hadn't caught it.

"Well," he sighed, "we were beaten by the longest out and the shortest homer of the year."

"I was worried all through the game that something like that would happen ", he said. "If they had to beat me with a homer, I wish Al Dark's hit had gone into the stands in the ninth. That one was hit good, but I guess the wind kept it out."

Fremont Grid Coach Raps State Ratings

Mackey, whose sophomore-laden club edged strong Lorain, 14-13, last Friday with a second half comeback, took dim view of Associated Press ratings this week. He especially challenged the No. 1 rating of Massillon and the ranking of Mansfield above his own team. Fremont was rated eighth.

"These polls don't make sense," Mackey said. "Massillon hasn't played anyone yet and still they're in first place, while Warren wins two tough games and beats Canton McKinley and is in second place.

"And Mansfield — that's just a name that the writers must vote for without thinking. Some of those clubs like to pick on a bunch of cripples, then go around like real tough guys."

"Why, this Lorain team we played last week could run over some of the teams in the top ten. Too many teams are picked on reputation. They play a few tough games, sure, but look at the schedules of Massillon, Mansfield and some of the others and you will see several soft spots. It's too bad we don't get a crack at them more often. I'd be glad to play them any time it can be arranged."

Mackey's type of criticism has been voiced before by other coaches and by Ohio sports writers. It was pointed out that generally the AP ratings are the composite view of less than two dozen newspaper and radio reporters in the state.

Auto Race Season Ends At Lancaster

The announcement came from promoter Charlie Macioci who listed the cause for the closing as "unforseen circumstances".

He added that he wished to thank everyone for their loyal support of the past season.

Big Race Readied At Chillicothe Oval

Season championship races will be run Saturday night at Chillicothe Speedway.

According to the promoters of the oval, this will be the biggest race of the year. There will be three features with time trials at 7 p. m. and the first race starting at 8 p. m.
